Two Groups Fight Over Stores Land In Tiburon Area

Annex Voted By Belvedere

The Belvedere City Council last night voted 3-to-2 to start proceeding to annex a revenue-producing area of Tiburon to the city of Belvedere.

The area has also been included in the proposed city of Tiburon.

It includes the remainder of the boardwalk not already in Belvedere, extends south along Tiburon Boulevard through the Maritime Center, west to Main Street, and back to and including Beach Road. Included is a yacht sales business, the post office, professional buildings, and a gasoline station.

The decision was made quickly as Mayor Robert P. Watkins ruled out discussion by the audience.

"We have heard the arguments at great length. It is time to decide if this is of benefit to Belvedere," said the mayor. "I know the planning commission studied the planning aspects of this and turned it down, but they do not face financial problems. We have inadequate fire protection and this may be the beginning of the answer to our problem."

Councilman E. G. Weed, in reporting on a study committee meeting, said that at first the committee, composed of representatives of property owners, city council, planning commission and Tiburon Incorporation Committee, voted unanimously on a compromise plan whereby Belvedere would annex the land and Tiburon would be guaranteed 123 parking spaces by Fred G. Zelinsky.

The Tiburon Incorporation Committee later denied the decision was unanimous, emphasizing it would not accept the plan unless approved by the Belvedere Planning Commission and unless the Zelinsky offer was legalized.

The study committee report and the planning commission report were not read at last night's meeting despite pressure from the audience.

Councilman John R. Moore, who with councilman Sally G.

Incorporation Notice Filed

On behalf of the Tiburon Incorporation Committee, John P. Eichorn at 8 a.m. today filed a notice of intention to circulate a petition for formation of the City of Tiburon.

The area proposed for incorporation includes Fred G. Zelinsky's proposed Belvedere Center, where a new Safeway store is already under way.

The action was precipitated by the decision of the Belvedere City Council last night to seek annexation of this area.

"We feel that the action of the Belvedere City Council in proceeding with the annexation of a portion of the historic Tiburon business area has forced us to act at this time," stated Elva Paske, committee chairman.

"Prior to last night's city council meeting a special study committee appointed by the council considered the proposed annexation. This committee recommended annexation only if the Belvedere Planning Commission found that such annexation was in accord with good planning and only if Fred G. Zelinsky could guarantee a public parking district for the joint benefit of Tiburon and Belvedere with not less than 125 parking spaces for Tiburon.

"Neither of these conditions was fulfilled. The Belvedere Planning Commission recommended against the annexation as proposed and the parking district could not be guaranteed.

"The Tiburon Incorporation Committee has been in a position to commence incorporation proceedings ever since June 13. We have withheld action in an attempt to produce an agreeable boundary.

"However, since last night's cavalier action by the Belvedere City Council in refusing either to hear or consider the recommendation of its planning commission, the Tiburon Incorporation Committee feels it has therefore been released from any prior agreement."

ILLUSTRATION IN WEST MARIN ANNUAL
Swastika flag disturbed county board member

SWASTIKA DRAWING BRINGS QUESTIONS

A swastika flag in an elementary school yearbook disturbed the newest member of the Marin County Board of Education last night.

"Is this published here?" asked James A. Carroll of Ross, holding up a copy of "The Estero," a multilithed eighth grade yearbook of West Marin Elementary School.

Supt. Virgil S. Hollis replied that the multilith printing of the booklet had been done in the county office as "one of the services our office provides to the districts."

Carroll then called Hollis's attention to page 8. On it appeared an account of guest speakers who addressed the West Marin pupis during the year. And below the story was a drawing—which seemed to have no connection with any of the speakers mentioned—showing a man speaking with an American flag on his left and a swastika flag on his right. The Speaker's rostrum was labeled "United Nations of West Marin School."

"I thin kthis sort of thing could be open to criticism," said Carroll. "Wasn't there any review of this book?"

There wasn't, said Hollis and Asst. Supt. Edward R. Credell. But there will be of anything produced at the county office hereafter, Credell promised.

'Big Push' Starts On Frost Search

A growing army of searchers, now estimated to be 500, pressed on toward the Lake Lagunitas area today in the hunt for an 11-year-old mute boy who vanished from the Cedars Development School in Ross last Friday.

The missing lad is Wayne Frost, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Frost of Redwood City. He can hear but cannot talk.

"He's got to be out there in the hills somewhere," said Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos. "Today is the big push!"

The sheriff assumed overall direction of the search yesterday and assigned Undersheriff Eugene Meyer and Capt. Sidney Stinson to organize the ground parties.

Skindivers from the sheriff's office probed Phoenix Lake yesterday and land parties combed the Old Baldy area without success.

"Today, the headquarters will be at Lake Lagunitas," said Captain Stinson.

Fifty soldiers from the Presidio of San Francisco arrived in three busloads at the sheriff's office this morning. They are commanded by Capt. Edward H. Barfield.

About 200 men from Hamilton Air Force Base and several from the Marine Corps barracks at the Marin Civic Center also joined the hunt. Sheriff's Sgt. Joseph E. Mooney said an Army helicopter would be sent up to check from the air.

Chief Louis J. Bloom of the Marin County Fire Department and his men continued to ride jeeps around the lakes and fire trails.

The Marin Chapter of American Red Cross provided sandwiches and coffee for about 200 searchers yesterday at Phoenix Lake. Today, the Red Cross were prepared to serve an even bigger number at Lake Lagunitas.

Mrs. A. C. Anderson, executive director of the Red Cross, said that the Messiah Lutheran Church of Redwood City, which the missing boy's fami-

A San Quentin Prison life-termer and the 15-year-old son of a prison employee, who were both "sick of this place," made a bold bid for freedom last night but were nabbed at Ignacio five hours later amid a barrage of gunfire.

Convict James Monroe Woosley, 28, a kidnaper and robber from Sacramento, was placed in isolation at the prison. The 15-year-old was held at Marin County Jail for referral to juvenile court.

The grim capture, in waist-high grass opposite Raphael Village about 4 a.m. today, had its lighter moments.

The boy and the convict had jumped out of their second stolen vehicle and scampered into the field.

The boy, weighted down with a B-B gun and a pocket knife, fell as a dozen shots whizzed by. Sheriff's Deputies Michael McLean and Edward Koehn followed their sniffing bloodhounds and caught the boy, who was too frightened to move.

Woosley had run on ahead, plopped himself on the ground, and covered himself with weeds. San Quentin guard J. H. Geurts, one of about 50 men who had converged on the scene, tramped on grass that had a peculiar "give."

"It felt kind of funny," said Geurts. So he tramped again and discovered he was stepping on the back of the convict.

Woosley, unarmed, gave up without a struggle.

When he walked out of prison last night, he had taken his pet white rat with him. But somewhere during the two traffic accidents and the gunfire, he lost his pet animal.

Neither the convict nor the boy suffered a scratch, although they had crawled out of an overturned car, damaged another pickup truck, and dodged a fusillade of .38 bullets and one shotgun blast.

Here is the sequence of events during the eventful night:

The boy told Sgt. Edward E. McKamey that the escape plot was hatched last Thursday near San Quentin School, which the boy attended. Woosley, an honor prisoner, worked in the garden and had befriended the boy for about nine months.

Kennedy's Bell Plea Supported

Let freedom ring!

If you have a bell — be it cow bell, dinner bell or whatever—ring it lustily at 11 a.m. on Thursday, July 4.

That's the request of President John F. Kennedy — and also of Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael, who put his Republican blessing last night on the Democratic president's proposal.

"There has been a bulletin from the president of the United States urging that we all 'let freedom ring' on the Fourth of July," announced Mayor McInnis at a city council meeting. "We are to request everyone in our municipality who has a bell to ring it at 11 a.m. our time, which will be the exact time that the Liberty Bell rang out the freedom of the United States in 1776.

"This is the first time there has been any such widespread campaign to 'let freedom ring.' I urge that all bells in San Rafael be rung at that hour."

President Ends European Tour In Naples Talk

NAPLES (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy ended his 10-day European trip to the cheers of a million Neapolitans today and flew home with a call for more NATO unity and an end to "self-sufficient nationalism" among the western allies.

On his final day he had a historic audience with Pope Paul VI, met again with Premier Giovanni Leone and was given a wild welcome by Neopolitans who screamed a traditional salute that sounds like "whoohay" and ran after him with shouts of "Ken-nee-day . . . Ken-nee-day."

His silver and blue air force jet left Naples at 7:34 p.m. for the return trip to the United States. He was due at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington shortly after midnight with a refuelling stop in the Azores.

White House aides estimated that more than a million Italians from Naples and surrounding areas jammed the city on the beautiful bay to give Kinnedy another of the enthusiastic welcomes that marked his European trip.

One aide quoted Kennedy as saying the reception was "overwhelming," with the size and enthusiasm of the crowds rivaling those in West Berlin.

In his final speech at the NATO Naples headquarters, some of Kennedy's remarks appeared to be directed at French President Charles de Gaulle, who has been opposing many policies within NATO and seeks a Europe free of U.S. influences.

De Gaulle Going To Germany

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle flies to West Germany Thursday to counteract apparent growing European support for President John F. Kennedy's plan of a broader Atlantic community.

In two days of scheduled talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at Bonn, de Gaulle will seek Germany's backing for France's grand design—a tight and exclusive Europe.

The meeting will be under the recently ratified Franco-German cooperation treaty which de Gaulle wants implemented to the letter.

But diplomatic sources here saw two rigid obstacles for the French president to overcome: The heavy pro-Kennedy feeling in West Germany evidenced during his recent visit, and the view of chancellor-designate Ludwig Erhard, who succeeds Adenauer in the fall, that the Kennedy plan is a "good neighbor" arrangement beneficial to Europe.

Two Store Chains Cut Sugar Price 2 Cents

The retail price of sugar dropped at Safeway and Purity stores in Marin County today and other chains and independent grocers may follow suit.

Safeway Stores announced that C & H cane sugar is now selling at 65 cents for five pounds and $1.29 for 10 pounds, representing a drop of two cents a pound in the past two weeks.

Purity Stores did not report the amount of its price drop, saying it was operating on a day-to-day basis depending on sugar company prices.

California and Hawaii Sugar Corp. has reduced the price of its cane sugar by $2.05 per hundredweight within the past two weeks, touching off the retail reductions. The new prices, however, are still above those at which sugar was selling before the price started a sudden upward spiral a few months ago.

Penney Surgery

Rot, Spiders Infest Mead Theater Stands

While more than 3,500 persons crowded the stands of the Mead outdoor theater to watch graduation ceremonies at Tamalpais High School on June 16, black widow spiders were crawling underneath the stands, it was revealed last night.

Also, most supporting timbers were infected with dry rot and one girder was "severely damaged at a critical location and could fall with little advance warning."

This information was brought to light when an engineering survey of the theater was read to the Tamalpais Union High School District board.

The board, acting on the spot, hired the architectural firm of Gromme and Priestley of San Rafael to start plans for a new theater, estimated to cost between $50,000 and $60,000.

In the meantime, the board was informed by Supt. Chester G. Carlisle that the theater and stands have been closed. Yesterday a pest control firm cleaned out the black widow spiders and their nests.

Engineer B. C. Albritton of San Rafael, in a letter to the board, explained that he was unable to make a complete survey of the stands because of infestation with the spiders.

Albritton said today that the spiders "were hanging around on their webs. There were enough of them to make me feel uncomfortable."

He said that, besides the one supporting girder about ready to fall, "a large part of the supporting structure" was infected with dry rot.

The spiders and dry rot, he added, "are not unusual under structures of this type."

The theater, built in 1936, holds 3,500 persons. A standing-room-only crowd attended the June 16 graduation ceremonies.

81 Voters Cast Ballots By Noon

About eight per cent of the registered voters in the Lagunitas School District had cast their ballots by noon today in the election to increase the district's general purpose tax rate limit from $2 per $100 of assessed valuation to $2.75.

Eighty-one voters had made the trip to the one polling place at the Lagunitas School by noon. There are slightly more than 1,000 eligible voters in the district.

The polling place will remain open to 7 p.m. A simple majority is needed to pass the proposal for a 75-cent tax boost to finance the school's present program.

Nikita Says Kennedy Berlin Talk Dangerous

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today he regarded President John F. Kennedy's performance last week in Berlin and German as "a dangerous development."

Addressing thousands of Communists at a rally in Red-ruled East Berlin, the Soviet leader said Kennedy was competing with France "for the old West German widow."

Khrushchev said he drew this conclusion from the U.S. president's speech in West Berlin, which he said was different from a "sober" Kennedy speech at the American University in Washington a few weeks ago.

"This is a dangerous development," Khrushchev said. "If you compare the two speeches, you would think two different presidents had spoken."

The Soviet Communist party leader said he wondered whether Kennedy intended to return to "the bankrupt policy" of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

The boy and his mother, who gave her son her spleen, have not been identified. They are from Pueblo, Colo. The mother was also said to be in fair condition today.

Wilkins Warns GOP Senators In Rights Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Republicans face a major test in Congress on civil rights legislation, says Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wilkins, in a keynote address last night to some 4,000 persons attending the kick-off meeting of the 54th annual convention of the NAACP, said "If in this human rights crisis, the Republican party has nothing to offer the Negro, then it has nothing of real value to offer the nation."

TEST REPUBLICANS

The Negro leader said the legislative fight, "in a very real sense, will be a test of the raison d'etre (reason for being) of the Republican party."

Wilkins, applauded more than 25 times by a calm, receptive, mostly Negro audience in a church auditorium on Chicago's South Side, had special criticism for two top Republicans—Sens. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Senate minority leader.

CAMPAIGNS PROMISED

Wilkins said the NAACP intends "this year and next to work actively for the defeat in the next election of these lawmakers who fail to support and vote for strong civil rights legislation."

Dirksen's leadership in the civil rights fight "can bring on moral disaster for the Republican party," Wilkins said. Dirksen opposes the section of President John F. Kennedy's bill which would ban refusal of service to Negroes by places of public accommodation.

Wilkins' criticism of Goldwater, a spokesman for the party's conservatives, centered on what he called the senator's insistence on leaving the solution of race relations problems to the states.

Lombardis Agree On Child Custody For Daughter, 9

Mary Nickel Lombardi, 42, of San Rafael, an heiress to the Miller and Lux millions, and her divorced husband Oliver M. Lombardi, 51, reached an agreement yesterday over the custody of their 9-year-old daughter Gay.

Both appeared before Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. of Marin Superior Court and decided that this summer, Lombardi will have five days with his daughter before she leaves for Hawaii where Mrs. Lombardi will re-marry.

Then, in 1964 and 1965, Gay will return to her father for six weeks visit during the summer and 10 days during Christmas. The couple will negotiate again in 1966.

The judge set July 29 as the time to argue about who will pay attorney fees. James Martin MacInnis represents Mrs. Lombardi, and Phyllis Kasler of the Hallinan, Sharpiro and Hallinan firm appeared for Lombardi.

Kennedy Trip Raises Unity In Russian Confrontation

By STEWART HENSLEY

ROME (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy's 10-day "invasion" of western Europe appears to have increased allied unity—for the time being — and strengthened his hand for trying to negotiate some tension-easing cold war settlement with Russia.

His major accomplishment, in the view of top aides, was in quieting German fears that his new "strategy for peace" might lead to some sort of deal with Moscow at the expense of the allies—particularly on Berlin.

Another major gain — possibly temporary—was in stemming the drift in some NATO countries toward French President Charles de Faulle's "go-it-alone" policy for western Europe.

In any event, Kennedy flies home from Naples tonight convinced that his visits to Germany, England and Italy—with a sentimental sojourn in Ireland along the way—were well worth the effort and might some day be looked back on as a turning point in the struggle to reconcile East-West differences.

There is little doubt the Germans, always jittery lest Washington make some deal behind their backs, will need to be reassured again from time to time. But the impact his Berlin speech made was evidenced by the fact that West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder has been quoting from it liberally ever since.

The visit to Italy, considered worthless by many observers because of the unstable political situation, is being assessed as worthwhile by presidential advisers. They point out that the government of Prime Minister Giovanni Leone, shaky though it may be, is the one Washington must deal with for the next few months and it is important to have its backing on military and economic matters.

American officials profess to see signs that de Gaulle's separatist policies—which reached high tide last January in the anti-British veto and refusal to join in cooperative nuclear defense strategy—are on the ebb.

Kennedy can have no illusions that his hurried swing through west Europe solved any major problems in the alliance. But it is possible he may have arrested the deterioration in NATO and laid the basis for new thinking about long range strategy.

Kuchel Favors Primary Battle In California

By RALPH BENNETT

SAN DIEGO (AP) — U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) isn't afraid of a primary battle between Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in California next year.

In fact, he would relish such a contest.

Kuchel thinks GOP voters should have the right to choose between bona fide candidates in an open presidential preference primary election in June.

California's senior senator disclosed his views in an interview by telephone from his Washington office.

He said he would have no part of plans to enter an "uninstructed" delegation in the California primary and try to keep bona fide candidates off the ballot.

GOP State Chairman Gaspar W. Weinberger, San Francisco, said in San Diego last week that he favors the formation of an uninstructed delegation, composed of all wings of the party.

Joseph Martin Jr., San Francisco Republican national committeeman, said last week he would favor such a delegation.

"We have since 1910 replaced the old convention system by the direct primary election system, enabling the people of both major parties to choose their own candidates," Kuchel said.

"The same theory holds for the presidential primary election.

"The very theory of our state's presidential primary law assumes the Republicans and Democrats will have the right to choose among bona fide candidates.

"My hope is that by the end of the year, we in California and across the country will have such a choice, and the prominent people will announce early that they will be candidates for the nomination.

"I see nothing wrong in what some people would describe as 'a bloody primary fight.'

"I don't share the apprehension that a decent primary fight might be a bad thing for the party. It would just be democracy at work. I hope it eventuates in California. I think I am 100 per cent right in this position.

Crocker-Citizens Bank Merger Set For Open Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A public hearing on the proposed merger of Citizens National Bank of Los Angeles and Crocker-Anglo National Bank of San Francisco will open in Washington July 30.

It was ordered yesterday by James J. Saxon, comptroller of the currency.

The banks contend in their merger application that "a refusal to permit the proposed merger will permanently relegate the participating banks to an artificial, regional status and second-class nature among California banks."

They said it is their "last practical opportunity . . . to provide statewide services to the public."

Saxon said that as of March 18 Citizens had resources of $762,779,593 and Crocker $2,335,319,227.

Sausalito Schools' Tentative Budget

Sausalito School District trustees last night adopted a tentative 1963-64 budget of $670,000 and stated they expect to hold the tax rate at $2.30 per $100 assessed valuation including five cents for bond retirement. An additional 14 cents is levied as "over-ride" tax for special purposes.

This is an increase of $9,000 from the preliminary budget figure set June 18, according to Supt. Marcus F. Davis. More money was found to be available, Davis said.

Trustees are to adopt the budget July 17 and will hold their next regular meeting Aug. 26.

The board voted contracts to obtain county library services, audio-visual services and a psychologist for one day a week from the county superintendent of schools office, but decided to hire the district's own fulltime nurse for 1963-64. Last year the board hired nursing service from the county.

Nancy James, head nurse at the University of California Medical Center student health department, was hired as fulltime nurse.

The board authorized spending $1,500 to resurface pupils' desks in the district's four schools.

Ralph W. Magnuson, formerly an elementary school teacher at Vallejo, was hired as principal of Central and Bayside schools. Magnuson, who will receive $9,470 per year, will replace Leo M. Shortino.

Also hired were Mrs. Muriel S. Kneid, sixth grade teacher; Ray Menaster, fifth grade; Ruth Williams, fifth grade, and Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, sixth grade, all at Richardson Bay School. Geraldine Ryan was given permanent status as Bayside school secretary.

Trustees authorized Davis to apply for funds under Senate bill 115 to provide special educational programs to culturally disadvantaged children.

San Anselmo School Board Loses Member

The San Anselmo School District board lost a member last night and learned that double sessions at Wade Thomas School will extend longer than had been expected.

Trustees accepted the resignation of John E. Wagstaff, which had been submitted but not accepted two weeks ago. He is moving to Santa Cruz, where he is to be resident architect at the new University of California campus.

The board asked that anyone interested in serving in Wagstaff's place, or who has someone to nominate for his place, communicate with Supt. Stephen Parodi at the district office by July 16. Names submitted will be made public after that date, they decided. The board hopes to make the appointment at its Aug. 1 meeting, which will also include public hearing on the 1963-64 budget.

The double sessions at Wade Thomas School will continue at least until March 1 because plans for an addition to the school must be revised, Superintendent Parodi reported.

The California Division of School Planning found the low bid of Balmer Construction Co. $5,805 over the amount allowable under state aid regulations, Parodi said. Therefore, some items must be eliminated. And the state board will not meet again until August. This will delay start of construction by at least a month.

The addition is to include four classrooms, a multi-use room and a teachers' room.

Board Will Meet After Election

Trustees of the Lagunitas School District will meet at 8 p.m. today, hoping at that time to know the result of today's tax election.

Supt. Clifford L. Frye said the main business will be the tentative budget for 1963-64 fiscal year. Budgeting of several items hinges on whether voters approve the measure that would increase the district's general tax from $2 to $2.75 per $100 assessed valuation.

Tentative budget is $189,000, but it will be short $24,000 if the tax boost is defeated, and trustees will have to decide what cuts will have to be made in the program, Frye said.

Call Girl Query Asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Department of Justice has begun an investigation into reports lobbyists hired call girls to help them influence lawmakers on a bill to allow night harness racing. Deputy director of the department, George H. Brereton, said he ordered the criminal identification and investigation bureau to assign a special agent to investigate the reports.

Kentfield Board Agrees To Buy Instruments

Buying up to $1,090 worth a year of musical instruments, including violins, trumpets, clarinets and trombones, was approved 5-0 last night by trustees of Kentfield School District.

The district formerly purchased the larger instruments but expected parents to buy the smaller ones.

The board adopted a tentative budget of $786,318 compared to $696,783 last year. Increases are as follows: Teachers' salaries, $43,000; other teaching costs, $18,000; plant operation, $8,000; maintenance, $5,000; fixed charges, $3,000, and community service, $1,000.

Capital outlay expenses were reduced by $12,000, and cost of transportation is less by about $300. The board approved a three-year bus transportation bid from Patchett's Bus and Transportation Co. at $4,475. Other bidders were Marin Transit Financial Corp. at $5,245 and Marinwood Bus and Transportation at $4,323.50.

The buses will transport children living in the Wolfe Grade and Greenbrae areas and attending Adeline E. Kent School.

The board agreed that because of heavy class loads at Greenbrae and Kent schools, pupils living in the Wolfe Grade attendance area and now attending another school will attend Wolf Grade. The boundary line for those attending Wolfe Grade School was moved slightly east to include all homes on North Almenar Drive.

The board authorized Supt. Howard G. Harmon to negotiate a contract with architects Corlett and Spackman for the next addition to Wolfe Grade School, and to present it to the board for review at the July 15 meeting.

The resignation of Mrs. Betty Bowers, secretary at Kent School was accepted and Mrs. Gwynethe Mitchell and Mrs. Seran Homrig were employed as secretaries.

Trustees agreed to offer $2,000 to the College of Marin for purchase of a small piece of property adjoining the Kent School playground.

Sausalito Councilmen Make Zoning Changes

Sausalito city councilmen last night made minor adjustments to the city's zoning map. Public hearings will be set on both the map and the proposed zoning ordinance, according to City Mgr. Charles A. Brown.

A full council met for an hour and one half at the city hall. There will be a regular meeting of the council at 8 p.m. today.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THAT LONG PHONE CALL

Marin County planning commissioners were not about to be blamed yesterday for interrupting telephone communications between the western world and Japan.

This is just what they would do, spokesmen for American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said, if they denied permission for the company to erect eight steel towers in the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore.

"It's the best location on the entire West Coast," said San Rafael Attorney Roderick P. Martinelli, representing the firm. He said wooden antenna poles erected in 1931 will become useless in 12 years because of the effect of sun spots on high frequency wave lengths.

On motion of Commissioner H. C. Hankins, the commission approved the towers, planned in two groups of four each within 200 feet of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near the Point Reyes lighthouse.

Small Alto Property Owners Ask Redress

Just because the State Division of Highways declares a piece of property worthless is no reason for Marin County to prohibit someone from living on the land.

This is what county planning commissioners were told yesterday by purchasers of a "remnant of highway right-of-way acquisition" at 23 Alto Court in Alto.

The state put the 3,958-square-foot parcel up for auction when it found it wasn't needed for widening of Tiburon Boulevard.

New owners Walter Gruenwald and Werner Hochheimer said they were told at the auction the land was not a legal building site but insisted they should have rights to use the land, including a five-room frame house.

"We are being persecuted," said Gruenwald.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said the land was not a legal site regardless of the chance it could be used again after rejection by the state. The commission continued the matter until July 15 to obtain county counsel opinion as to possible rights Gruenwald and Hochheimer might have.

"We won't tear the house down," said Hochheimer. "It will stand there as a monument to bureaucracy no matter what happens."

Fairfax Merchants To Hold Election

The election of officers for a six-month period will be held by the Fairfax Merchants Assn. at 7:30 p.m. July 11 at Christiansen's Danish Bakery, 71 Broadway, Fairfax.

Five persons yesterday were nominated for president, one for vice president, one for secretary, and two for treasurer.

Sleepy Hollow New Zoning Must Wait

New zoning for some 425 acres between Sleepy Hollow and Terra Linda will have to await studies of future traffic patterns in the area, Marin County planning commissioners declared yesterday, despite pleas of some residents for immediate residential zoning.

The area, now under interim zoning which has few restrictions, has been under consideration for four months. Planning director B. D. Dobbs told the commission that most property owners in the area agreed at a recent meeting that planners should study potential roads and traffic before zoning.

Traffic in the area may include that resulting from the long-discussed road over the hill from Terra Linda to the Ross Valley.

"Traffic should have nothing to do with it," protested Thomas Stafford, president of the San Anselmo Homeowners Assn. "There is no reason for another long delay in this. The entire area should be zoned for single-family residential use, and it is surrounded by that zoning now."

A petition from 700 neighboring homeowners previously presented to the commission asked for residential zoning. But staff planner Warren Baker said agricultural zoning should be considered for parts of the area.

"Everything there should be well considered," said chairman Niels Schultz Jr. "Four months is not long compared to 30 years. It may not be fast, but at least it will be tidy, once it is all wrapped up."

The commission continued rezoning studies of the area until Aug. 5.

Marin County planning commissioners also:

1. Denied permission to Terra Linda Valley hospital and the Nazareth House in Terra Linda to erect directional signs on Manuel Freitas Parkway at Las Gallinas Avenue.

2. Continued until July 15 discussion of open area zoning for Marin Mouncipal Water District lands.

3. Continued until July 15 request of Louis Garaventa to establish a garage and equipment yard for garbage trucks on Atherton Avenue near Novato. The commission suggested Garaventa apply for a variance rather than rezoning from limited agricultural to industrial, as previously suggested to him.

BEHR TOLD TO ASK FOR BRIDGE WORK

Supervisor Peter Behr was instructed by his fellow Marin County supervisors today to attend a 10 a.m. meeting of a Golden Gate Bridge board committee tomorrow and put Marin County on record as favoring widening of bridge approach at the San Francisco end.

Mrs. Helen Jack, secretary of the bridge district, had written to ask the supervisors be represented at tomorrow's session of the building and operating committee.

Acting Chairman William D. Fusselman suggested Behr go only as an observer.

Behr, however, noted that Marin commuters have an interest in eliminating bridge bottlenecks wherever found, and Supervisors William A. Gnoss and George Ludy proposed that he express a position.

"This may be a poor idea because later we might want some concessions from San Francisco supervisors who oppose widening at their end," said Fusselman.

"We are very interested in free flow of traffic," said Gnoss. "Therefore we ought not to worry about other matters."

Behr finally moved for an expression of policy in support of approach widening and won a mandate to voice this view by 3-1 vote, with Fusselman opposing.

Mack Pleads Guilty To Grand Theft Count

Harry J. Mack, former executive director of the Marin branch of the American Cancer Society, pleaded guilty in San Mateo County Superior Court today to one charge of grand theft.

It was one of six counts of grand theft and forgery filed against Mack after his arrest May 12. He was charged with embezzling $4,930 from the San Mateo County Heart Assn. while serving as the association's executive secretary.

Mack's attorney, George R. Anderson of San Francisco requested probation after the one guilty plea was heard.

Judge Frank W. Rose set July 23 for a probation hearing and scheduled consideration of the other five charges on that date.

There are three other grand theft charges and two forgery charges, accusing Mack of forging withdrawal slips for $530.62 and $1,033.76.

Mack worked five years for the Marin branch of the cancer society before resigning last September to take the San Mateo County post.

New county growing in Marin ... and a newspaper growing in service

Marin's boundaries haven't changed a whisker on the map. But "inside" is boundless growth . . . almost a new county in itself.

And it's drawing people, investors, new businesses, new suburbanites, with almost magnetic power.

Everywhere is the yeast of growth: Plans for sub-divisions that could well be called plans for cities. Earthmovers scooping up the present and moving it into the future. Capital flowing in from New York, Chicago, Miami—name it.

Today, a $7,500,000 apartment project for Corte Madera is announced in one breath, a new shopping center for Larkspur with another. At Northgate, the Emporium is replacing a mountain. On Highway 101, a hundred and one changes in landscape will bring in shopping centers, over-passes, frontage-roads . . . and a new era in shopping convenience.

From the State comes a prediction: Marin will increase 68% in population between now and 1970. Staid Chase-Manhattan Bank of New York says Marin will be the "site of the next population-explosion" in Northern California.

More people. More building. An empty lot today, a high-rise apartment tomorrow. Steel, brick, timber, glass . . . going up at almost frenetic pace. Multi-million dollar "pueblos" are making a new condensed world of living—condominiums, garden, marina apartments, built around a pool.

It takes money. But Marin makes it—the highest-income county in all 11 Western states with an average of $10,078 per family. Which may explain why automobile sales went up 10.1% last year and why the Smiths and the Joneses of Marin now average 1.42 cars in the family garage.

Money too, explains why retail sales, at $212 million, went up 9.6% in 1962 and are ring-a-dinging the register in 1963. Even the bankers must be impressed; they're making a handsome deposit on the future with their own brand new buildings.

This is the new county growing within Marin. And pacing the change is your "communications center", the county-wide Independent-Journal.

By giving you more news coverage, more pages, more features, we help you grow . . . by keeping you better informed. We help advertisers grow by winning more and more readers and their attention.

County School Board Appeal Power Questioned On Firing

Does a fired employee of the Marin County superintendent of schools office have any right to appeal to the county board of education?

Supt. Virgil S. Hollis told the board last night he would seek an opinion on this question from the county counsel. The issue was raised by James A. Carroll, new board member from Ross and a teacher in a San Francisco junior high school.

"Has this been a problem in the past?" Carroll asked. Hollis said he could not remember any appeal while he has been county superintendent. "During recent years," he said, "we have been working as a team. But anyone always has recourse to the board."

He did not know what legal action the board could take in over-ruling any dismissal, however.

Prior to reading a letter of resignation last night from Janice de la Fontaine, special education teacher at Lu Sutton School in Novato, Hollis said "letters are not read in most cases."

Mrs. de la Fontaine was among several county school employees whose resignations came to light two months ago in the midst of criticism of Hollis's administration. She had submitted her letter Feb. 18 and complained it had never been read to the board.

Without any explanation, Hollis read her letter last night. It simply referred to her "previous discussion with special education director Daryl F. Hopkins" and stated she "will miss" her work as a teacher at the school.

Tomales Students Seek Transfers For Courses

Some students at Tomales High School want to go elsewhere because the school does not offer enough academic courses, the Marin County Board of Education was told last night.

Dudley Dixson of Inverness read a letter to the board, asking for help in allowing the transfer of his son, Paul. The request is one of three which have been presented to the Tamalpais High School District Board, but under policy adopted by Tamalpais trustees the transfers must pay tuition fees, not previously demanded by high school districts in Marin.

Dixon said his son should be permitted to attend Sir Francis Drake High School, where he may take courses in mechanical drawing and German. Neither course is offered at Tomales.

County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said there are other transfer requests pending appeal to the county board. "We will consider all of them at the August meeting," he told Dixon. "It's a considerable problem, and I think we will have many more requests before August."

The Marin County Board of Education Also:

1. Reduced the county school service fund budget by $40,536 as demanded by the State Department of Education. Cuts are in pupil personnel, library, and audio-visual categories.

2. Approved hiring a program coordinator for data processing of school projects, if approved by school districts. "We would like to move ahead on this as fast as we can," said Hollis. "We can do a real job once it is established."

NATO Commander Hits Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander in Europe, feels that any withdrawal—or even threat of withdrawal—of U.S. troops in Europe would be a "disastrous" blow to NATO.

Lemnitzer's stand on the issue was made known yesterday when the House Foreign Affairs Committee released closed-door testimony by the North Atlantic Treaty commander.

He said the 400,000 U.S. troops in Europe should not be regarded as a "permanent fixture" but he said he does not see how they can be reduced as long as the "Soviet Union maintains . . . its objective of domination of the world."

Novato Council Meets

The Novato City Council will review items held over from previous budget study meetings and hear an estimate by the city administrator of revenues for the new fiscal year at its fifth budget study session at 8 o'clock tonight in the Community House.

Shrapnel Injures Two Napa Youths In Rocket Blast

NAPA (UPI) — Two boys were recovering today from injuries suffered when the homemade rocket they were trying to launch exploded.

Fourteen-year-old Robert Claudino, Napa, underwent nine hours of surgery yesterday to remove shrapnel from his heart, lungs and liver. A companion, Jack Enos, 11, also of Napa, had four pieces of shrapnel removed from his left shoulder.

A spokesman at Queen of the Valley Hospital said both boys were "recovering satisfactorily."

The two were injured yesterday when their rocket, fashioned around a carbon dioxide cartridge, exploded on the ground, according to the Napa police department.

Police said Claudino lit the rocket's fuse and caught the main impact of the blast.

Sen. McCarthy Says Brown Uses 'Panic'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), has charged Gov. Edmund G. Brown with trying to "panic" the people into pushing for a bigger state budget.

McCarthy made the charge yesterday in response to Brown's comments in signing a 3.1 billion dollar state budget that passed the legislature June 21 after defeat of the governor's tax reform program. Brown termed it an "emergency" budget.

"Throughout the past week," McCarthy said, "Governor Brown has issued statements predicting all but bread lines for Californians unless millions more are added to his budget."

He said Brown was attempting to "eclipse" strong opposition to his tax proposals by blaming it on "a handful of Republicans."

"He has never explained why the president pro tem of the Senate, who is also Democratic majority leader, and the chairman of the Senate finance committee (a Democrat) are also totally opposed to his tax program."

McCarthy referred to Sens. Hugh M. Burns of Fresno and George Miller of Martinez.

Better Know Your 'Boardmanship' When Addressing Tam Trustees

Citizens wishing to address the Tamalpais Union High School District board must become acquainted with the rules of "boardmanship."

The board last night adopted a set of rules covering participation by the public at meetings. The rules were taken from the pamphlet, "Boardmanship," prepared by the California School Boards Assn.

While "strongly encouraging citizens to attend board meetings," the rules require that, "whenever possible," a letter outlining the nature of the request should be written first to Supt. Chester G. Carlisle.

Then, "if necessary," the superintendent will pass the matter on to board members and it might be placed on the agenda. If it is not on the agenda, the board can be addressed at the proper time during a meeting.

For a complaint or criticism "the channel . . . on which action is requested should always be through the superintendent." Serious matters require written statements or appearances before the board to get the matter on the agenda.

Carlisle, in response to questions from Reed School District board member Leo Souza, said appraisers were at work on the Tiburon Peninsula high school site.

He said, "I don't know if it will come to condemnation . . . I don't think it will, but I'm not sure." Carlisle said there would be about $600,000 available in bond money for purchase of the site and, if more was needed, it would have to come out of the undistributed reserve fund.

The Tamalpais Union High School District board also:

1. Formally adopted a budget of $5,716,600 for 1963-1964.

2. Approved eight new courses which include advanced drama, directed reading for seniors, humanities, journalism, electronics, and economics.

3. Voted to let parents have the choice among four accident insurance policies for students offered by American Casualty Co. with premiums ranging from $2 to $12 per year.

Boy Hurt On Bike Condition 'Good'

Mark Bottini, 2, of 160 Circle Road, San Anselmo, who went for a bicycle ride with his sister, Terry Ann, 6, Sunday afternoon, was in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with a broken left leg.

The bicycle was struck by a car driven by Dudley Ross Tyler, 43, of 15 Elm Avenue, Kentfield, as Terry Ann rode it across Los Ranchitos Road near her home.

The father, Herman Bottini, took the children to the hospital where Terry Ann was treated for bruises and a sprained left ankle. Mark was in fair condition yesterday, but was much improved today.

Sports Car Enthusiasts Get San Rafael Permit Warning

San Rafael's official family played "who killed Cock Robin" last night about sports car time trials on the Montecito Shopping Center parking lot, but nobody would admit being the sparrow.

Three council members at a budget session last week were critical of the Montecito Merchants Assn. for permitting the car contest without city approval. But last night, two representatives of the Marin GT Sports Car Assn. said city permission had been granted.

The police department granted it, they first reported.

Up rose Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

"Our department did not clear the races at all," he asserted. "We went down there on a complaint that they were going on."

The sports car representatives then said they had phoned police, been "held on the line quite awhile" and then told a permit would have to come from the city treasurer's office. Marian Grady of the treasurer's office told them "no permit was needed," they reported.

"That was an error," said Councilman Charles W. Aby. "She should have said no permit could be granted."

Up rose City Treasurer Angelina J. Soldavini.

"Sgt. Lou Foster called me on Saturday to say the race was going on," she said. "The only license that could be issued would be on authorization of the mayor and city council. . . . She (Marian Grady) did not speak of it to me."

"It appears as though there was a comedy of errors all the way around," commented Aby.

The sports car club was notified that if it plans another such event in San Rafael, it must ask city council permission—and was warned that it probably will be denied.

The council was asked by attorney A. E. Bagshaw for an expression regarding a proposal by the Independent-Journal to buy the present city hall property and lease all but the rear 47 feet of it back to the city for $1 per year plus taxes for 10 years for city hall or parking lot use. Councilmen asked a delay until a long-awaited city hall financial analysis is received from the consultant (and bond buying) firm of Stone and Youngberg.

Mayor John F. McInnis said, however: "I think it is the single most interesting offer on this property that has come to us yet. . . . All five of us are most interested."

The matter was put on the agenda for July 15 in hope the Stone and Youngberg report (already several months overdue) is received by then.

Whisking through its agenda in one hour and 35 minutes, the San Rafael City Council also:

1. Awarded contracts for road materials for the new fiscal year to Hutchinson Co., McPhail's, Basalt Rock Co., and Camgros Gravel and Fuel Co.
2. Unanimously adopted a resolution permitting the city clerk-finance officer to establish revolving accounts and issue checks against master warrants, instead of issuing warrants which must be returned by banks for payment.
3. Voted final adoption of ordinances rezoning the E Street School property for commercial use and a parcel between Belvedere and Larkspur streets in East San Rafael for apartments.
4. Received from Robert Roumiguiere, arbitrator in a dispute over renewal of the Gasoline Marketeers lease of city property on Francisco Boulevard, a finding that the former $125 per month rental should be increased to $300 per month plus one cent per gallon on all gasoline sold there above 20,000 gallons per month. City Atty. David Menary Jr. said the arbitrator's report was binding on both parties and no new contract was necessary.
5. Postponed approval of plans and call for bids for grading and draining Victor Jones Park until July 15 because City Engineer Dominic Selmi was absent last night due to illness. Councilmen wished to question Selmi about a drainage culvert estimated to cost $17,500.
6. Set for July 15 public hearings on rezoning from single family to duplex of a lot owned by Dr. Robert Oslar at 219 Ross Street, on the tentative map of Harry Heifetz's Beryl subdivision of seven lots off Forbes Avenue near Elizabeth Way, and on Gunter Silmar's appeal from planning commission denial of architectural supervision of an addition to the Mills Building at Fifth Avenue and G Street.
7. Approved hiring Peter Zunino and Curtis Grannis as groundsmen in the park department at $390 per month.
8. Were told by Public Works Director Norris Rawles that as a result of a letter of complaint he had written, Piombo Brothers have speeded up work on the Third Street widening project and should complete it next week. Rawles recommended the $50 per day damages provided in the contract be assessed for the days since expiration of the last extension granted. Council Fred E. Jensen said, "The job that's been done is a lousy job, too, don't you think?"
9. Referred to the traffic committee a letter from Philip S. Bundschu of 421 The Alameda, San Anselmo, on behalf of Short Ranch property owners, urging that the cities of San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax and the County of Marin jointly work out a circulation plan for roads through the Short Ranch area.
10. Authorized the mayor and city clerk to sign a contract with Traffic Controls, Inc., for trial installation of "anti-meter cheater" devices on 15 parking meters for 30 days, at no cost unless the city decides to keep them. Councilmen indicated small likelihood it will do so.

CHAUTEMPS DIES — Camille Chautemps, 78, died yesterday at his Washington, D.C. home. The former premier of France had lived in Washington since 1940, when he came to the United States on a secret mission from the Vichy government. He had been vice premier at the time of the French surrender to Nazi Germany.

San Rafael Wary Of Rocket Test Plan

San Rafael city councilmen were somewhat less than enthusiastic last night about a proposal to test rocket launchers in the Bay off San Pedro Point.

Aerojet-General Corp. proposed a site for static tests of underwater rocket launchers just off the Sisters islands, in a favorite fishing area within the City of San Rafael.

It wasn't the possible disturbance to the fish that worried councilmen, however, but the disturbance to the people.

A letter from the Marin County Development Assn. suggested the city might wish to express its feelings on the proposal, which is before the Army Corps of Engineers for clearance from a navigational standpoint.

Mayor John F. McInnis said he had been told "by someone whose name I cannot divulge but who is supposed to know about these things" that the test firing would be exceedingly noisy.

"Apparently this is the third site," commented Councilman L. H. (Bud) Baar. Two proposed locations near Angel Island have been abandoned for the tests, which would be made by Aerojet-General for the Navy.

"They get their foot in the door," commented Councilman Fred E. Jensen, predicting, "As soon as that starts we're going to have plenty of complaints."

Baar wanted to know "what are we considering?" He suggested City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen write Aerojet-General requesting details as to just what would be done and how much noise could be expected.

At the mayor's suggestion, the city manager was instructed also to write Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) advising that the city is concerned about the proposal and would like to reserve the right to call a halt on the tests if they should prove as noisy as feared.

Mill Valley Man Pulled From Span

Charles Richard Ross, 27, 253 Morningsun Avenue, Mill Valley, was pulled from the outer catwalk of the Golden Gate Bridge at 3:10 a.m. yesterday by Frank Hiebackos of Petaluma.

Hiebackos, 43, told California highway patrolmen he was driving south on the bridge when he saw Ross climb over the west rail. Hiebackos stopped and ran to pull him back.

Ross, a Navy radioman on the Mount Katmai at Port Chicago, had left a note mentioning financial difficulties. He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Former U.S. Officer Returns From Russia

NEEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—A former U.S. Air Force major who forsook the United States four years ago to live in the Soviet Union has returned home.

Libero Ricciardelli, 46, would not comment last night on his life in Russia. Neither would he say why he decided to return.

The monarch butterfly larvae dine exclusively on milkweed.

Thoughtful Thieves

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—The thieves who removed two tires and wheels from Raymond Bennett's parked automobile were considerate to a degree. They replaced them with old ones, so he did not have to walk home from his job at an electric plant.

Carroll Questions Secrecy Policy

James A. Carroll, new member of the Marin County Board of Education last night questioned the board's policy of keeping secret the names of proposed board replacements.

"At least the entire board should have a chance to know all about who is applying, even if the voters don't get to know," he said.

A three-member committee of the board is considering applicants to replace Walter L. Johnson, who resigned last month. Committee chairman Robert G. Randolph said there are "several applicants from the Novato and San Jose district areas, and we will submit a recommendation to the board in August."

"It would be difficult for me to cast my vote if there is just one name submitted," said Carroll. "I'm being barred from information."

Randolph said all board members would be given lists of the names of applicants, but Carroll said he would like to meet the applicants.

"I'm opposed to this whole policy of keeping names secret," he said. "If that's the policy now, I think we should review it."

He saw no reason, however, why the board should not consider applicants as a "committee of the whole" in executive session. "It would be all right according to the Brown Act if it could be considered the hiring of someone," he said.

Supt. Virgil S. Hollis suggested the board may have a way to evade the law's restriction of closed meetings only for the hiring and firing of employees.

"Unlike school districts," Hollis said, "you receive pay and travel expenses for meetings. So maybe the appointment of a board member could be considered employment." (Board members receive $10 per meeting plus 10 cents a mile for travel to and from meetings.)

The board agreed to get an opinion from the county counsel before proceeding with selection of a replacement for Johnson.

Asst. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said today that he interprets the Brown Act to include appointment of officials as well as hiring of employees in closed sessions.

Water District Asked To Allow Dual Service

Whether to allow two houses on one piece of property to be served by one water meter will be decided tonight by directors of the North Marin County Water District, meeting in the administration building.

The board will also consider an extension agreement for Forest Park Unit 8 and an addition to the Bel-Marin Keys assessment district agreement.

Perry Hodson, 46, of San Francisco, was reported to be in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after falling off a roof he was repairing yesterday morning at 79 Cloud View Avenue, Sausalito. Hodson, who works for Marin County Roofing Co., San Rafael, broke his left leg in the 10-foot fall at 11:32 a.m.

San Rafael High Gym Fire Is Extinguished

The old gymnasium at San Rafael High School narrowly missed going up in flames last night after a small fire was deliberately set in the basement.

San Rafael Police Officer John Loane reported, school custodian William Hancock discovered a pile of paper and wooden sticks on fire in the basement of the girl's gym about 7 p.m.

Hancock, working in the building, smelled smoke and discovered that a door had been forced open. He extinguished the fire before firemen arrived.

Loane said that papers had been stacked together with wooden sticks in a pile. A box of matches was found nearby.

Close to the burning pile are several hundred discarded wooden bleachers which are stored in the basement underneath the gym.

Loane said in his report, "If for any reason the fire had not been located, it would be safe to reason that loss of the entire building was in the making."

Relations Committee Cut To 11 Members

Mill Valley School District trustees last night reduced the size of the community relations committee from 15 to 11, saying the group was too large.

Names of prospective people to serve on the committee as well as the policy development committee are to be submitted to Dr. William L. Clark, board chairman.

HAROLD PHILBY
Third man in spy case

Macmillan Angry Over Spy Debate

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan angrily defended his part in the "third man" security case today in a bitter, name-calling House of Commons debate.

Opposition Labor Party leader Harold Wilson enraged Macmillan by demanding he appoint a minister of security to end the nation's series of security scandals.

Macmillan pigeon-holed the demand and accused Wilson of "invective and insolence."

The parliamentary battle erupted over yesterday's revelation that Harold Philby, former British diplomat in Washington, was indeed the "third man" whose tipoff allowed turncoat diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean to skip behind the Iron Curtain.

Macmillan said the Burgess and MacLean flight occurred in 1951 under a Labor government. When Macmillan's conservative Party came to power, he said, Philby was "got rid of."

The Laborites derided Macmillan for denying — in 1955 when Macmillan was foreign secretary—that Philby was the "third man" in the Washington embassy who tipped off Burgess and MacLean. Today Macmillan said his 1955 answer was based on information then available.

The Laborites jeered.

Wilson charged that "American newspaper revelations" forced Macmillan's Lord Privy Seal, Edward Heath, to announce yesterday that Philby was the "third man." Labor M.P. P. Arthur Henderson demanded to know if President John F. Kennedy got a report from Macmillan on the Philby case and Britain's other security woes.

Pick-Up Truck Theft Reported To Police

Theft of a 1958 Ford pick-up, parked in front of 1520 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, was reported to San Rafael police last night by Ulery Massey of Boulder Creek, Santa Cruz County. He said the vehicle was stolen between 8 and 9 p.m.

Norman Eugene Smith, used car manager at Ames Ford, 619 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday that a 1962 Ford had been stolen from the used car lot on Friday or Saturday.

'Imposter' Convicted

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ferdinand Waldo Demara Jr., "The Great Imposter," today was given a suspended jail sentence and fine and placed on probation for one year for using the mails to defraud. U.S. District Judge Thurmond Clarke sentenced Demara to one year in jail and fined him $1,000 on each of three counts—then suspended the sentence and fine on his plea of no contest.

There were only two graduates in the first West Point class, in 1802. They were Joseph G. Swift and Simon M. Levy, both of whom fought in the War of 1812.

Power Cut In West Marin

Gusty winds that tugged at Marin County late yesterday found a weakened power pole near Point Reyes and brought it crashing to the ground in a tangle of wires at 7:35 p.m.

Power was off in a large area of West Marin, including Point Reyes Station, Inverness, Nicasio, Point Reyes, and the area up to but not including Marshall. Through switching circuits, power was restored to the Inverness-Point Reyes area at 10:47 p.m., but the rest of the area remained dark until crews replaced the pole at 4:55 a.m.

Leonard Robertson, district electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., said the pole was rotten at its base.

20 Windows Smashed At San Rafael High

Vandals broke 20 windows on the north and east sides of the San Rafael High School gymnasium, school custodian Peter Camporelli reported to San Rafael police Sunday.

Camporelli said the windows, covered with wire mesh, were broken between noon and 8 p.m. Saturday.

Chatty Greiner Wins Divorce

The off-again, on-again divorce action by Chatty Collier Greiner of Sleepy Hollow finally wound up yesterday before Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court.

She won an uncontested divorce from her husband of three years, William LaSha Greiner, on a charge of cruelty. She is a daughter of the socially prominent William (Buster) Colliers of San Francisco.

The couple met while both were students at Stanford University, and eloped to Nevada in April of 1960.

Corte Madera Lauds Nelson

"Warmest regards and appreciation" for Frank L. Nelson, Corte Madera fire and police chief for 20 years, were expressed last night by the Corte Madera Town Council as members presented Nelson with a watch.

"I never expected anything like this. I'm flabbergasted," said Nelson.

Nelson then presented the council with a placque of its own, from the Commission on Police Standards and Training. It notes that police officer Fred Talmadge has completed a training course at the Concord Police Academy.

"I'm very proud of this plaque," said Nelson. "It means that our men will attend the academy and we will have a well-trained force we can be proud of."

The council returned the plaque to Nelson and told him it should hang in the police department.

Man Arrested After Hotel Room Torn Up

James Edward Robins, 26, of the Bermuda Palms Motel, 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael was arrested by San Rafael police Sunday shortly after 9 p.m. on a charge of malicious mischief after he allegedly tore up his motel room.

Police said his only explanation for tearing the room apart was the statement, "I goofed."

"The most popular foreign student curricula are electrical and civil engineering, business, mechanical engineering, economics, statistics, modern european languages and aeronautical engineering, in that order."

County's School Units Reorganize

Arnold Dolcini Jr. was re-elected president and Robert G. Randolph was re-elected vice president of the Marin County Board of Education last night as school boards throughout Marin County reorganized for the new fiscal year.

Dr. John C. Siemens was elected president of the Tamalpais Union High School District board, succeeding Dr. Delman D. Smith. Dr. James M. Stubblebine was elected clerk, succeeding Siemens, and also was named trustee representative to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

The Tomales Joint High School District board did not have its scheduled reorganizational meeting because of a lack of a quorum. It will reorganize at 8 p.m. Monday.

Walter Burbank was re-elected president of the Tomales Bay Union School District board and Mrs. Lois Parks was re elected clerk.

3 Police Promotions Allowed Without Exam

San Rafael city councilmen grumbled last night about the examinations given under the city's civil service, then promoted three members of the police department without examination and appointed three others from an eligible list.

Thomas Cheetham and Richard Camper were appointed inspectors, at sergeant pay, after councilmen huddled with Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa before the meeting opened.

Although the council had previously insisted that police promotions be by examination only, Chiesa convinced the members that the two inspectors posts were "special cases." Cheetham and Camper he said, have been doing the work of inspectors for nine months though classified as patrolmen. No other patrolman has this training and experience, he in-

Barxdal Stinson was promoteded from dispatcher to patrolman, and Arthur Worthington was hired as dispatcher.

Also hired as patrolmen were Gary Walter and Robert Larrison.

Worthington, Walter and Larrison were on an eligibility list which City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said had been established with an examination he gave with assistance of outside police chiefs. He said he got the examination questions from an eastern firm.

Only a few minutes before, the council had voted to renew the contract with the California State Cooperative Personnel Service for civil service examinations, although Councilman Fred E. Jensen said he had heard criticism of the state examinations and suggested an effort be made to obtain exams elsewhere.

Learning that state examinations had not been used to produce the patrolman eligibility list, Jensen demanded, "How come?"

City Manager Andersen said he gave the examinations only "for original positions. I wouldn't want to be responsible for promotional exams."

"I should think it would be just the opposite," said Jensen. "The state exams might be okeh for first employment, but on promotions many of the questions have no bearing on what the person is supposed to know."

The new inspectors both have considerable service records with the San Rafael Police Department. Cheetham, 57, is one of the department's veterans with about 18 years' total service. He is a former associate warden of San Quentin Prison and lives at 2175 Fifth Avenue. Camper, 32, of 132 Solano Street, San Rafael has been with the department since July, 1956.

Stinson joined the police department in April. He is 34 and resides at 7370 Redwood Highway, Novato.

Walter, 23, of 3550 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, has military police experience and formerly clerked in a San Rafael market. Larrison, 23, of 26 Magnolia Avenue, San Anselmo, has been an office employee of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco. Worthington, 50, of 99 Glen Park Drive, San Rafael, has been an expediter with Dumont Corp.

Slang Dictionary Banning Refused In Santa Clara

SAN JOSE (AP)—Howard W. Campen, Santa Clara County executive officer, yesterday told supervisors that he will not remove the controversial "Dictionary of American Slang" from school libraries as they had ordered.

Campen told the county officials that state law not only forbids him from doing this—but also forbids their ordering him to do it.

He said he based his refusal on an opinion from County Counsel Spencer Williams. Campen also told supervisors that he had read the dictionary and "found nothing so horrendously wrong with the things in it."

Williams cited in his opinion a section of the State Education Code which holds in part that a county librarian, "subject to general rules adopted by the board of supervisors . . . shall determine what books . . . shall be purchased."

Boys Haul Shark In At Tiburon

A seven-foot long shark was hauled ashore today by two Tiburon boys, despite the fact it tried to turn around and bite one of them.

Geof, 14, and Terry, 13, sons of Mrs. Diana D. Schlittgen of 2550 Mar East noticed the fin of the shark in the water off Keil Cove at about 10 a.m.

The boys stunned the shark with stones and used a pole to move it closer to the shore. Terry grabbed hold of the shark's tail, only to let go after it suddenly came to life and swung its head around.

The boys threw more rocks at the shark, finally killing it, then waded in the water again to haul their trophy to shore.

Coffee Can Of Money Stolen In Tam Valley

A coffee can brimming with quarters and paper money vanished from a Tamalpais Valley home, the victim reported to the sheriff last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Brown estimated the can contained $250. It was left on the table in the master bedroom. The thief may have entered through the front door because of a faulty lock, Deputy Sheriff W. R. Keaton Jr. reported.

Two Boys Confess Rash Of Burglaries

Mill Valley police today cleared up a rash of burglaries with the arrest of two Mill Valley brothers, 14 and 12 years old.

The boys were caught after many nights of stake-outs by officers and placed in Juvenile Hall early today on burglary charges.

They admitted sliding down a laundry chute to enter the Top Notch Cleaners at 154 Throckmorton Avenue, smearing the teachers' room in Old Mill School with ice cream, and spending some of the money they got at a Mill Valley Carnival.

Police also placed two Mill Valley teen-agers in Juvenile Hall yesterday on burglary charges after they admitted entering the George Davi home at 100 Longfellow Road twice while the family was vacationing.

The 12-year-old boy admitted that he and his brother had smeared ice cream on the walls of the faculty room at Old Mill School. He also admitted these entries:

On May 23 he entered Mill Valley Motors at 16 Madrona Avenue, looked around but took nothing; May 23 he entered Mill Valley Salvage Shop, 45 Lovell Avenue, but found nothing; June 7 he entered the Mill Valley Library, the first of four entries. He got $20 on one entry, the boy told officers, but was unsuccessful on other occasions.

On June 15 he entered the O'Shaughnessy home at 60 Summit Avenue by breaking a window. He and his brother, he said, took some brandy, whisky, a clock, and a can opener.

June 17, the boy said, he entered the Top Notch Cleaners by dropping down the clothes chute. He obtained $50 which he split with his brother, he said. He told officers he spent the money at a carnival in Mill Valley. He also said he had entered the cleaners prior to this but got nothing. He also said he entered the cottage at 21 Madrona Avenue on June 11 and took $6.44.

Police Chief Dan Terzich said officer Keith Cramer had staked out several nights to trace boys.

ESCAPE

boy told Woosley. "I'm gonna leave."

"I'm sick of this place, too," the convict replied. "And I'm gonna leave too."

Woosley suggested the boy steal a car and meet him outside the west gate Monday night. The boy was to leave home Sunday so the two would not be connected.

The boy spent Sunday night in the hills. About 9 o'clock last night, he stole a car parked at 575 Canal Street, San Rafael, with keys in the ignition. The car was owned by Dennis Campbell Boyce of 405 Adrian Way, Santa Venetia.

Woosley had climbed a five-foot fence and was waiting for the boy on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard East, near the west gate.

The boy had dreamed of going out into the world to hunt and fish. The convict had "planned to go to Wyoming or somewhere and start over."

They headed for their dreams up Highway 101 with the boy driving, but almost immediately, their dreams began to shatter.

Sheriff's Deputy William Johansen spotted a car moving erratically north of San Rafael. He turned on the red light and siren.

Woosley told the boy to turn right, but that road turned out to be the Hamilton Field main gate. They swerved back onto Highway 101 and sped north. Near Nave Lanes, the boy said, a woman driver cut in front of him, and he lost control.

The stolen car careened over the divider and oncoming lanes and landed upside down in front of the Meadows tavern.

The two crawled out and took off toward Raphael Village and Loma Verde. Deputy Johansen called for reinforcements, and men from the highway patrol, San Quentin, sheriff's office, Novato police and fire departments began converging.

McLean's bloodhounds picked up the trail and followed the escapees under Highway 101 through a culvert and into Bel Marin Keys construction area.

There, the convict and boy stole a pickup truck owned by Carrol Z. Smith, superintendent on the Hanna Ranch project. Highway Patrolmen Gerald L. Walkup and Ivan D. Jump, and Deputy Sheriff Charles Prandi spotted the pickup, and the chase was on.

At Entrada Drive and Highway 101, the pickup truck turned right onto the railroad tracks and stalled. The two occupants ran into the fields, followed by police bullets.

Deputy Sheriff Joseph Kendricks pumped five shots from his revolver and one blast from a shotgun. San Quentin guards and other officers were also shooting, but they were afraid to aim directly at the escapees for fear of hitting the boy.

The youth was caught at 3:40 a.m. and the convict 15 minutes later.

Woosley was one of three men who kidnaped Lester McFail, then sheriff of Calaveros County, and Deputy Russell Leach in Amador County in 1955. He was also involved in Sacramento robberies. He was sent to prison in 1956 for life.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said Woosley had been a model prisoner since 1960. He was assigned to a ground crew in the minimum security area west of the prison.

Inside the overturned sedan, officers found a book with Woosley's name in it.

Inside the stolen pickup truck, patrolmen found a small bore revolver. The owner of the revolver was not immediately determined.

ANNEX

Mathews voted against the annexation charged the committee report was never circularized.

"This was a minority report. The committee never came to an agreement. It's a railroad deal, claimed Moore. "I thought the committee referred it to the planning commission who turned it down because Zelinsky never came through with the parking."

"Don't make mis-statements," said Zelinsky.

"You said you would withdraw if there was a donnybrook," Moore challenged.

"What's a donnybrook? Speak English," Zelinsky retorted.

"Where are the spaces?" Moore persisted. "How are they guaranteed? Zelinsky has not kept his word. Before we vote he should be made to come up with the spaces."

Audience members who attempted to have the report of the study committee and the planning commission read were not recognized.

Asked point-blank about the position of the Belvedere Land Co., co-owner David W. Allen said it favored annexation.

A motion to proceed with annexation of the half of Corinthian Island not in Belvedere was also approved. This annexation was proposed by island residents represented by Robert Moor, Corinthian Island Property Owners Assn. president.

Kuchel Asks Marin Views At AEC Meet

A letter to Marin County supervisors from Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) today suggested that views o fthis county on the proposed Bodega Bay nuclear generating plant be presented at approaching Santa Rosa hearings of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The board accepted this idea but was unable to agree on what its policy has been.

Acting Chairman William D. Fusselman thought it had been decided that operators of the plant should be responsible for any harm done. But supervisor Peter Behr felt that there had been a wish to express concern over conflicting reports of investigators "so that we could have some security of our future safety."

Fusselman said he didn't remember it that way at all, and held the matter over temporarily until the record could be consulted.

Officials of Cedars Develpment School said that if Wayne became hungry, he might walk into any house and raid the ice box. They asked that anyone in the area who discovered a refrigerator left open or food missing from a refrigerator call the sheriff's office, as this might provide a lead to locate the missing boy.

Sausalito Theft Solved By Ring

Sausalito police yesterday booked a 14-year-old Sausalito boy at Juvenile Hall on 2 burglary charges after he was found wearing a man's stolen jade ring.

The boy admitted entering the Ernest Bowman home at 32 Sunshine Avenue Jan. 6 and taking jewelry, liquor and a transistor radio. Bowman's daughter, Ann, assisted police to trace the boy after she saw her father's $200 jade ring on the finger of another juvenile.

The boy burglar had given the ring to a friend.

The boy admitted entering the home through an open window at night and taking the loot.

Per capita gross national product of Guatemala was estimated at $174 in 1960.

Larkspur School Board Hit Again

By FRANK FARRARA

The Larkspur School District Board last night attempted to "ring down the curtain on the flare-up" brought about by protesting taxpayers.

In a sharp verbal excange with taxpayers, the board stoutly defended its granting of pay raises in the face of a tax increase defeat at the polls.

Trustees said they felt granting the raises would be the best use of the available money, most beneficial to the educational program.

About 120 persons ,including approximately 30 school teachers, jammed the kindergarten room of the Larkspur-Corte Madera School for the showdown meeting.

One outcome of the session might be the formation of a citizen tax and bond committee to study the district's financial and building needs.

The meeting ended on a note of uncertainty. It was not decided whether the board will call another tax increase election, and it was not decided what the taxpayers' next move might be, if any.

The taxpayers' revolt, which led to last night's debate, was sparked by the granting of a $2,000 raise to Supt. Milton S. Cohen, a $200 across-the-board raise to teachers, and raises to classified personnel.

Taxpayers particularly criticized the timing of the raises, right after the public voted against a tax increase.

Newly-elected board chairman John W. Boyd said the raise was not predicated on the election and would have been granted regardless of the outcome.

"We should clear up all differences and ring down the curtain on this flare-up that never should occurred," he said.

At issue also was the $2,000 raise given to Cohen after seven months on the job.

Boyd said the district is paying less for administration than previously and that he found "no grounds for complaint by the community."

Albert P. Clark of 66 Elm Avenue, Larkspur, a spokesman for the taxpayers, said there has been a lack of communication between the board and the people. "I feel decisions have to be made with the will of the people in mind," he said.

Donald N. Fox of 98 Cornell Avenue, Larkspur, host to the original group of 37 protesting taxpayers, said to the group. "If you accept the answers, this should be the end. If not, let me or Al (Clark) know."

Clark presented a petition containing 96 signatures asking the board to explain its action on salaries, and raising four specific questions.

In his opening comments, Boyd said the board did nothing in secret and did not grant the raises as the result of "snap judgment."

Clark asked whether the board had considered what effect its action will have on future bond issues.

Mrs. Pauline H. Secor, outgoing chairman, said trustees had tried to figure out the motivation of the "no" voters in the June 4 tax election. "We, as a board, could not know their motivation and what they were saying with their votes," she said.

Trustee Curtis P. Kamai said he did not believe a "no" vote meant "don't give a raise to teachers."

Boyd said he felt another tax election would not pass in view of the recent defeat. "There will not be an election unless the proposed citizens committee recommends one," he said.

Kamai said: "I'm for another election. Whether it passes or not depends on us as a board and you as people."

Taxpayers said the board was in danger of losing volunteer workers for future elections because some felt they had been misled during the late campaign.

They were plugged for the tax increase on the grounds that it was needed for teacher raises. When the board granted the raises without the tax increase it "lost the confidence of the people," Fox said.

At one point in the discussion Vaughn Marker of Larkspur said: "The image of the school board in the public eye is not necessarily the best. The leadership that may be lacking may not be in the superintendent, but in the board."

At the close of the meeting trustee Jack L. Mengel said, "We don't blow our own horn and we don't hire a public relations man, but there is a lot of leadership shown in this board."

Trustees explained the $2,000 raise to Cohen on the grounds that the board felt he was a good superintendent and deserved a salary comparable to that of other superintendents in the area. The raise brings his annual salary to $16,500.

Near the close of the meeting Robert Smith of Larkspur said he felt that there was "still a barrier" between the board and the people and that "nobody's ideas changed."

Boeing To Study Moon Base Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has put the Boeing Co. to work on long range plans for a moon base housing two to 18 persons.

Such a base, if authorized, would come into operation after the Apollo program to land two men on the moon by 1970. Work on the base would begin no earlier than 1970.

Contract for the Boeing study was announced yesterday. It will last four months and cost about $196,000.

West Germans Get U.S. Troop Jurisdiction

BONN, Germany (AP)—NATO troops now must face West German courts when accused of violating West German laws.

A new law, which became effective yesterday, removes one of the last vestiges of the occupation period. Heretofore troops stationed in West Germany have been under the sole jurisdiction of their own commanders.

Though meteorites fall anywhere, it is much easier to see them in flat, desert areas, where other rocks are rare. The arid climate and slow erosion rate also favors meteorite survival.

Tapes, Films Allowed By Education Board

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Board of Education may adopt films, records, tapes or other materials instead of textbooks for new foreign language courses.

A bill allowing such adoptions was signed yesterday by Gov. Brown. It was authored by Assemblyman Jack T. Casey (D-Bakersfield), author of the state's mandatory foreign language program, which begins in September, 1965.

APARTMENT SALES OFFICE APPROVED

A $50,000 "temporary" sales office for the Carolands Co. apartment development above Paradise Drive was given unofficial approval last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

The company wants to build two model apartments on the north side of Paradise Drive opposite the development to use for five years as a demonstration sales office, then rent the apartments until the city wants to buy the land, planned for a community park.

"This is a permanent building we're talking about," said Kerwin Williams, vice president of the Hillsborough company. "I don't think there's a real conflict of interest here. We're both interested in seeing the entire project completed." He asked assurance the company could continue using the buildings after the five years as rental units.

The property where the sales office would be built is zoned for single family residential use. "The easy way to do this is rezone," said Sherrod S. Davis, city attorney.

"I won't be at that meeting," replied Mayor Edward W. Colthurst.

"I'd be loathe to put a future council in the position of violating the zoning ordinance," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Cutting the sales office to one model apartment was suggested by Michell Williams of Carolands Co., and councilmen gave their tentative approval to the idea provided the company dedicates a 15-foot road right of way along the property. The company will take its plan to the planning commission.

Councilmen adopted a proposed sidewalk repair ordinance requiring property owners to repair sidewalks in front of their homes. The council indicated, however, that no crash repair program would be instigated.

Request Robert F. Vogel of Corte Madera to open a prescription pharmacy in the new Bank of America building on Tamalpais Drive was sent to the planning commission after councilmen indicated they consider a pharmacy a proper use of the land, now restricted to professional and real estate use.

The council, examining a $3,000 un-itemized bill from Davis, agreed that in the future the attorney's bills will have to be spelled out.

Voting 4-1, the council overruled Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow's opinion that septic tank installation inspection in Corte Madera should be left to Corte Madera Sanitary District.

William Desmond, Marin County health inspector, asked the council to enact an ordinance giving the county health department inspection rights.

"We already have 400 ordinances in this town, and nobody knows what they are now," said Brandow. Our inspection program works as it is now."

"We aren't asking for redundancy," shot back Desmond.

The council, with Robert I. La Dow opposed, agreed to have the ordinance prepared.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. today for a budget meeting to discuss the public works and general government appropriations.

2. Set for 3 p.m. July 15 bid openings for the town tennis courts, and asked Colthurst to meet with Charles Crow of the Corte Madera Lions Club for joint planning of the courts.

3. Learned the public works committee of the council will inspect the Christmas Tree Hill area roads on a field trip Friday, leaving at 9:30 a.m. from the town hall.

4. Heard there are three persons being considered for appointment to a vacancy on the planning commission but did not mention their names.

5. Instructed Brandow to investigate costs of installing a fence at the Hickory Avenue entrance to the Neil Cummins School. Larkspur School District has agreed to put a path from the entrance to the school.

6. Waived first reading of an ordinance annexing the department of motor vehicles property off Tamal Vista Boulevard.

7. Introduced in its original form an ordinance that would require builders to cover exposed pipes on houses built on hills.

8. Accepted a bid of $35,368.84 by Ghilotti Brothers to repair roads including Junipero Serra, Willow Avenue and Redwood Avenue, after learning that all property owners but one have deposited funds to cover their share of the cost. High bid was from E. A. Forde Co. at $46,868. Three other bids were also received.

Belvedere Acts To Make School Legal

On the grounds that the Belvedere City Council was legalizing a violation, Herbert H. Scheier last night challenged proposed changes in the Belvedere zoning ordinance to make it legal for St. Stephen's Church to open a parochial day school.

However, the council will ask the planning commission to initiate a zoning change adding "private schools" to the list of buildings permitted in a residential zone with a use permit from the council.

Despite advice of City Atty. William H. MacKay that permitting the school to open would violate the zoning ordinance, the council on May 6 voted to appoint a committee to clarify the legal propriety of a "church school."

MacKay reported he had conferred with James Michael, attorney for the proposed parochial school, who recommended changing only a description clause in the ordinance. It would then state that a church could include a parochial school.

A resolution to change the description was submitted by Councilman E. G. Weed.

Michael had argued at the May meeting that historically churches include parochial schools.

The city is faced with a suit by three Belvedere residents represented by Scheier demanding that the zoning ordinance be enforced.

Councilman Weed, favoring the change in the ordinance, argued that "time is of the essence."

"If we pass this change we greatly undermine the weight of the litigation and affirm our interpretation of the ordinance," he said.

The resolution was voted down, 4-1.

Scheier argued that the committee had never been properly appointed. He also argued that a church school was not a parochial school but a Sunday school.

Fred E. Palmer charged that Scheier, who lives next door to St. Stephen's Church, bought his property knowing a parochial day school was to be included.

Scheier immediately quoted a press release published in the Independent-Journal when St. Stephen's Church broke ground for the accessory building, in which a Sunday school was described but no mention made of a day school. He said city records also showed this.

The second resolution, requesting the planning commission to initiate a change in the ordinance, was passed 3-2 with Councilmen Sally Mathews, Weed and John R. Moore voting "yes" and Mayor Watkins and Councilman John H. Flint voting "no."

A group of 20 residents of Peninsula Road complained in writing they were not satisfied with the paving job underway on Peninsula Road.

Dr. William B. Ryder described the job as "lousy" and a "wilful and negligent expenditure of city money."

R. A. Bunker, a 10-year resident, charged that no seal coat had been put on and that a trench dug to repair defective wiring had never been filled.

Mrs. Elmer Fraass claimed her rugs had been ruined by recent paving of Bay View Avenue.

City Mgr. Britton Rey said the job was supervised by City Engineer Albert H. Siemer and that the paving was the same as used on other city streets.

"They should be at least be patient enough to let us finish the job. It will be done in the next few weeks," he said.

Watkins appointed a committee of Councilman Mathews, engineer Siemer, L. E. Daggett and Dr. Ryder to study the problem.

The council appointed Thomas E. Stanton to serve the unexpired term of E. K. Allison on the planning commission. Stanton is a San Francisco attorney.

A revokable permit was granted William T. Griswold to construct a car deck on city property.

Although Belvedere Community Hall was damaged as a result of the teen-age program, councilmen spoke in favor of continuing the program and requested that members of the recreation commission attend the next council meeting. Rey estimated it would cost $600 to replace broken windows and said the floor had been damaged also.

Castro May Need Further Surgery

Further surgery may be necessary on Walter R. Castro, chairman of the county board of supervisors whose right leg was removed at the knee at San Rafael General Hospital Thursday.

Castro was described in good spirits today by his physician, Rafael G. Dufficy Jr. Dufficy said the supervisor was using a wheel chair today.

The leg was removed after extensive examination and tests of a blood clot. Castro, 69, suffered a heart attack in February.

Marichal Will Face Spahn In Braves Opener Tonight

Juan Marichal (12-3) takes another crack at posting his ninth straight win for the San Francisco Giants tonight when he faces Milwaukee's legendary Warren Spahn (11-3) in the opener of a three-game series.

Last Friday, Marichal struck out 13 Cincinnati Reds in 7⅓ innings before he was taken out by Manager Alvin Dark. Southpaw reliever Billy Hoeft got credit for the win and Marichal only got hot under the collar.

Dark's biggest worry at the moment is lack of hits at the right time. The Giants left 13 men on base yesterday while sustaining a 4-3 defeat at the hands of the Reds. The setback left his club in third spot and still 1½ games behind the pace setting St. Louis Cardinals.

"We are not hitting," Dark said, as he had after Sunday's 7-3 win over the Reds. "And so we have increased our batting practice."

He indicated that he was concerned about the shortstop position, where Jose Pagan is struggling with a .203 batting average.

"We haven't hit at all this year," Dark said, noting the club's team mark of .243. "And a man hitting .200 can't play at shortstop."

He would not digress however, on the possibility, that Pagan might be benched.

Jim Maloney, now 12-3, pitched himself out of numerous jams yesterday while the Reds bopped Billy O'Dell for 11 hits in the seven innings he worked and all of their runs.

O'Dell, who got two hits himself off the fast-balling Maloney, was socked for bases empty home runs by Tommy Harper in the third inning and Ken Walters in the sixth. Those blows made the difference and changed Billy's record to 10-4.

San Francisco loaded the bases in the first frame with two out and Felipe Alou grounded out to end the threat. In the next inning, Maloney gave up a brace of singles, one of which scored an unearned run. Willie Mays then fanned to retire the side.

The Giants blew another big chance to go ahead in the seventh after Maloney had departed when his arm began to stiffen.

Willie McCovey and Ed Bailey tagged relief pitcher Jim Owens for a brace of doubles to bring in one run. Owens retired the next two hitters. Then with the tying run on third base, Manager Fred Hutchinson brought in southpaw Billy Henry to face pinch hitter Tom Haller, who is a left-hand batter.

Haller crashed the first pitch some 400 feet over the right field fence but it was barely foul as it passed the pole. Haller then walked and Orlando Cepeda, also pinch hitting, flied out to center for the final out.

Harvey Kuenn, who now has hit safely in 12 straight games, collected two singles and drove in a run. Bailey boomed his 13th homer of the year in the third frame to account for the Giants' other tally.

Best Thing For Willie Mays Could Be Short Vacation From Baseball

CONNOLLY

Is manager Alvin Dark doing the right thing by Willie Mays, the highest salaried player in baseball?

What's the matter with owner Horace Stoneham that he doesn't step in and issue orders?

The greatest outfielder in organized baseball, and one of its real all-time great hitting stars, has been floundering aimlessly, hither and thither, all season, terribly off stride, and under terrific pressure.

It has become so bad, that lately Willie looks pitiful and helpless most of the times he is batting. He falls away from pitches, acts terribly frightened one moment, and the next moment, he looks like a guess hitter.

WILLIE MAYS has reached the stage in his batting slump that fair play demands he be removed from the lineup and given a week or two to rest. He'll never snap out of his slump by being benched and allowed to suit up. He should get away, completely from the ball park, the clubhouse, the uniform and the players. He just needs a good letting alone —a real lift.

Yet, for some unaccountable reason, manager Alvin Dark keeps using Willie as a regular in the lineup; keeps on batting him in third position, hoping upon hope that Willie will snap out of his hitting doldrums and play back to his regular form.

That time has passed, Alvin. Willie looks worse now than when he fell into the slump early this season. And he promises to get worse unless something is done to help him.

DARK SHOULD consult with Owner Horace Stoneham who should direct the Giant manager to give Willie a complete rest from playing regularly. Send him to Nevada, Palm Springs, Florida, or home, where he can forget the team and the players and the fans who expect so much of him as a leading star.

Last year Willie fainted on the bench in Cincinnati. He was given a few days rest, then joined the ball club. They examined him after the close of the season and the "croakers" all said he was 100 per cent okay. Well, if they are that much off the beam, how can they account for Willie's batting manners in 1963?

Does Willie have to fall off the bench or faint before manager Dark tells him to take a rest?

Three times yesterday in the final game of the Cincy Red series Willie Mays could have been a hero. He failed miserably, the pressure mounting each time he failed.

ANY MANAGER who has so little feeling and consideration for the greatest outfielder in the world should be chastised along with management for permitting a star to play in such flim-flam fashion. Why should a great diamond career be spoiled by saying flattering things about him when the manager and the management knows they are uttering falsehoods? Willie has deserved all the nice things that have been said about him—but not this season. They are out of place.

Unless Willie Mays can hit and lead the Giants as he has done in the past, the 1962 National League champions can never repeat as winners. I don't mean a home run like Willie hit last Sunday. That is his true gait when he is right. But Willie isn't right. Alvin Dark knows it; Horace Stoneham knows it; and yet they do nothing about it.

Mays is slated to play in the All-Star game. He doesn't belong in it. He needs a good rest, one that will not find him in the shadows or in the dugout or in the clubhouse. I mean a vacation that is for real.

GIANT MANAGEMENT deserves a good scolding, not alone on the basis of how they've handled the Mays case, but because they've tried to get by with three starting pitchers when they need five.

It isn't the money the Giants pay Mays that is keeping Stoneham from granting or ordering Willie to take a hike. It is just thoughtlessness, both on his part and maybe on the part of Alvin Dark, his manager.

As of now, Mays belongs out of the regular lineup. He deserves better treatment than to be allowed to grope around in the throes of a batting slump (hi sworst), just for the sakt of poor judgment.

Give Willie the vacation with a real heave-ho and let him come back in a week or ten days and we'll see what we shall see.

Reds Acquire Two Players From Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — A multi-player deal between Cincinnati's pennant-contending Reds and the going-nowhere New York Mets highlighted a flurry of manpower shifts in the major leagues yesterday.

The Reds, currently fourth in the tight National League race, acquired infielder Charlie Neal and catcher Sammy Taylor from the ninth-place Mets for the waiver price of $20,000 each. New York also is to get a player to be named later at the waiver rate from Cincinnati—most likely good-hitting catcher Jesse Gonder.

To make some room on their roster, the Reds sent reserve second baseman Don Blasingame to Washington and the Senators, in turn, shipped pitcher Jim Coates to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

In other shifts, the Kansas City Athletics bought catcher Charley Lau from Baltimore and optioned outfielder Manny Jimenez to Portland of the PCL. The Orioles had brought up pitcher Herm Starrette and outfielder Fred Valentine from Rochester of the International League over the weekend.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Dodgers Win 2-1; Only Half Game Out Of League Lead

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Podres doesn't take many bows. It's dangerous.

But there's no doubt the shrewd left-hander was entitled to take just a little dip from the waist last night after his five-hit pitching carried Los Angeles to a 2-1 victory over Milwaukee and to within one-half game of the National League lead.

Plagued by back trouble since the start of his professional career, Podres has been both brilliant and baffling for the Dodgers since he joined the club in 1953. For the last three weeks, he had again been a problem, unable to win.

FLIP-FLOP

Then, against the Braves, the 31-year-old hurler completed another amazing flip-flop, turning in one of his strongest performances of the season. He struck out 12 and walked only two while recording his sixth complete game for a 5-6 record.

The decisive run came home on Wally Moon's pinch-hit double in the ninth inning off Braves starter Bob Sadowski, who wound up with a four-hitter and is 0-2 since he came to Milwaukee in the trade that sent Lew Burdette to St. Louis.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, lost to Houston 4-3 in 11 innings on Rusty Staub's key single. It was the Colts sixth victory in their last seven extra inning games, all won by relief specialist Hal Woodeshick.

OTHER ACTION

In other games, fourth-place Cincinnati showed its home run punch in edging third-place San Francisco 4-3 and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia split. The Pirates won the opener 2-1 before the Phillies took the nightcap 8-1. New York's Mets and the Chicago Cubs were idle.

The American League leading New York Yankees knocked off Boston 7-5 and Kansas City defeated Baltimore 6-4 in the only games on the AL schedule.

The Dodgers moved ahead 1-0 on Frank Howard's 12th homer in the second inning but Gene Oliver, who also came to the Braves in the Burdette trade, tied the score with a homer off Podres in the fourth. It stayed that way until the ninth when Maury Wills singled, stole second and eventually came around on Moon's hit following an intentional walk to Jim Gilliam. Sadowski had retired 14 men in a row when Wills hit one up the middle.

Woodeschik, now 8-3, allowed the Cardinals to tie the score in the ninth on a pinch single by Charlie James, a ground out and Bill White's single, but then checked the league-leaders until the Colts struck against Ron Taylor, 4-3. Ernie Fazie, like Staub a rookie, beat out an infield hit, moved to second on a sacrifice, took third on a wild pitch and trotted home on Staub's single. It was Houston's second straight victory over St. Louis after seven consecutive losses.

The Billings-Hutchison Builders dropped the Santa Rosa Elks 4-1 in a practice game Friday night in Santa Rosa behind the four-hit pitching of right-hander Pete Noga.

The Builder hitting attack of 12 safeties was headed by right-fielder Ernie Demattei with a single and double and John Brookman with a pair of key safeties.

Trailing at the end of three innings, 1-0, the Builders scored twice in the fourth, once in the sixth and once in the seventh. Noga struck out four and allowed two walks and was helped by some great defensive plays by shortstop Don Lauters.

'Rich' Palmer Sets Sights On England

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, with his fifth tour victory and a bushel basket full of money, heads for England tomorrow in quest of his third straight British Open golf championship.

The 33-year-old Pennsylvania plutocrat carved out a five-birdie 67 Monday to defeat Tony Lema and Tommy Aaron by three strokes in their playoff for the Cleveland Open — a $110,000 fixture.

They had tied at 273, or 11 under par for the 72-hole jaunt over Beechmont Country Club 6,618-yard course.

The victory gave Palmer $22,000, boosted his three-week take to $54,000, ran his 1963 winnings to a record $85,545, and his 10-year total to an unapproached $430,323.

Lema, 29, San Leandro pro, and Aaron, 26, from Gainesville, Ga., picked up $8,550 each. It was the biggest payday for Aaron, who has never won a pro tourney and moved him to eighth in the earnings list with $22,550. Lema has the Memphis Open title and several high finishes to his credit for a fourth-place $60,963.

The playoff, the last four holes of which were televised nationally, was anti-climactic. Palmer, with three birdies, was three ahead of Lema and four ahead of Aaron at the end of six holes. With five to play, just before they moved into camera range, Palmer led Tony by five strokes and Tommy by seven.

Aaron, who birdied the last four to get into the playoff, birdied three of the same four to tie Lema.

Asked if he thought he had a chance to break the $100,000 figure in purses, Palmer grinned and said:

"I'm going to play in five or ten more tournaments this year and no one knows what will happen."

Aaron is going to the Canadian Open this week, but Lema plans to rest up until the PGA championship at Dallas in two weeks. Jack Nicklaus will fly to England with Palmer.

Miss Hard Wins At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Darlne Hard of Long Beach advanced to the semi-finals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships today, but Donna Floyd Fales of New York was eliminated.

Miss Hard, No. 4 seed, advanced into the semi-final round by taking the first quarter-final set from Australian Jan Lehane today 6-1. She was trailing in the second set 1-2 when her opponent retired.

Mrs. Fales was beaten in her quarter-final match today by Ann Hayden Jones of Britain.

Mrs. Jones, seeded No. 3 in the tennis championships, had a fight on her hands in the first set but swept through the second to win, 6-4, 6-1. Mrs. Fales served six double faults.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Report On Successful Sea Trip; North Bay Bass Picture Gloomy

STEVENS

They say, "One swallow doesn't make a spring," and by the same token one report doesn't give a true picture of fishing. The sardine netters down Monterey way couldn't get any bait because of extremely heavy seas, yet Manny Fernandez, formerly of the Hayward fisheries, called to report a very successful deep sea fishing trip aboard the Holiday out of Monterey—one of the Chris' sport fishing fleet. Manny did some mild raving over the 100 pounds of assorted rockfish he toted off the boat around noon. Told me practically all aboard had heavy sacks of fish, boccacios, blues, reds, etc. Also one salmon of 22 pounds was boated and one of 35 pounds was hauled in by Jim Guerrerro. This exceptionally fine fishing was had near or on the Portuguese ledge. So it would seem that it is all a matter of geography!

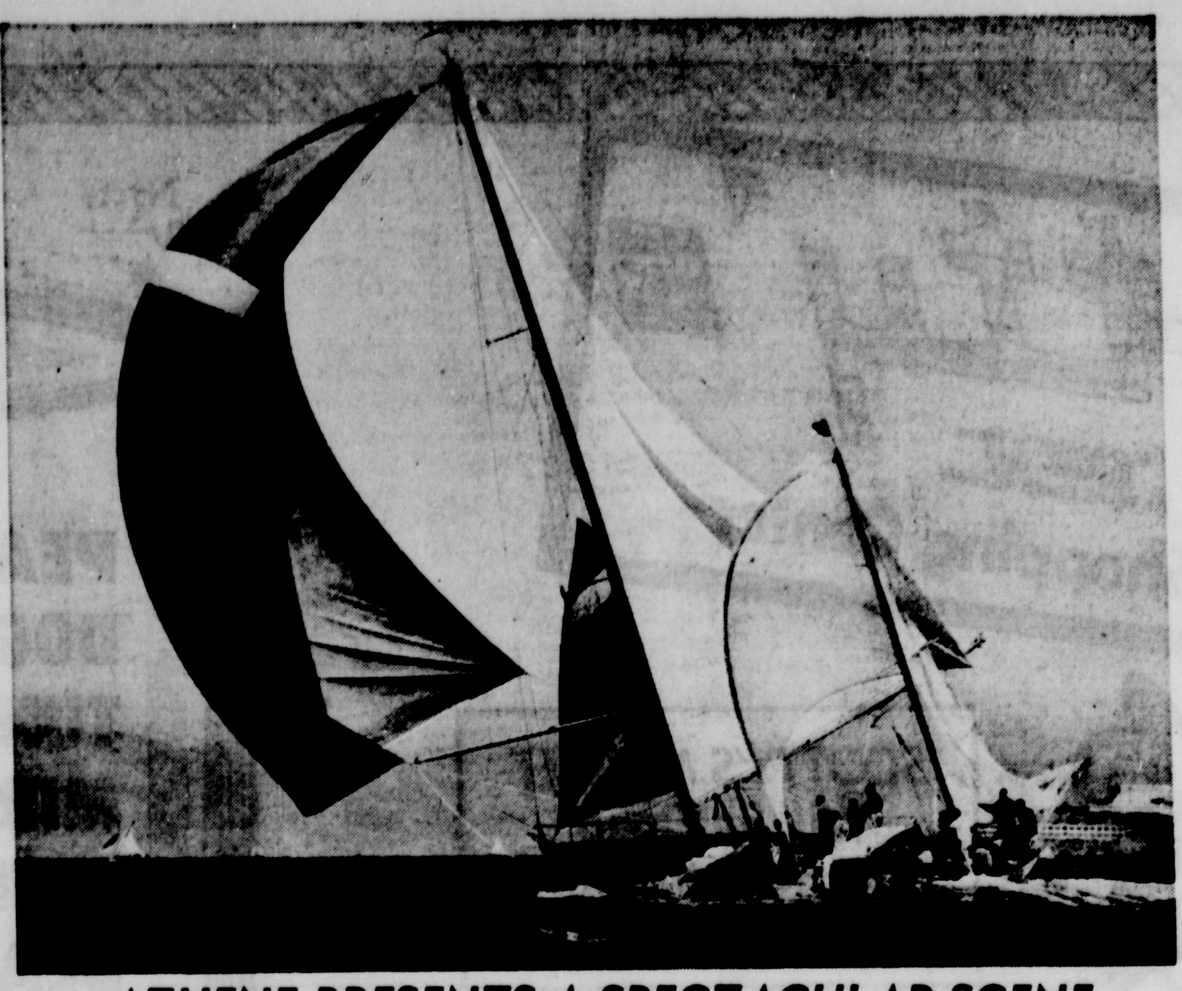

I WISH I could report a similar piece of good news regarding the striper striving in the upper San Pablo, but, alas and alack, 'tis not possible. Only two small bass came into China Camp on Saturday and four bass (one was a 14-pounder) were unloaded at Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia. Joe Nerviani reported one very satisfied anglerette, however. Mrs. Florence Miller landed a nice striper and a dandy 58-pound sturgeon.

The long-hoped-for late evening trolling has yet to materialize. Dowrelio's at Crockett reported only one bass per rod on Saturday's quest, a la trolling, and had no report of any fish on bait.

ACCORDING TO Joe Nerviani, however, the boats that managed to drag White Bugeye pigs in the Brothers and Sisters area—using 10 and 12 ounce sinkers, and trolling from late evening to sundown did very well for themselves. Also the lads and lassies who trolled the Alcatraz and Racoon Strait sectors did likewise. From Lee Anderson's Bait Shop in Oakland we learned that the boat Trade Winds took 11 to 14 pounds in the Racoon Strait and the Troller came in with seven limits of bass to 15 pounds off Alcatraz.

SALMON TROLLING apparently has simmered down a bit, although some are being caught. One boat, the Sea Horse, had a field day on Saturday, getting nine halibut to 35 pounds and three salmon, from the north side of the Farallon Islands.

THE HOTTEST news is the very extensive school bass run in the South Bay not far from the San Mateo Bridge. Birds are going crazy, everybody loading up, trolling white Bugeyes with pork rind tail baits, or stopping and plugging when in the midst of the many schools. Audrey Payne of the San Lorenzo Bait Shop says: "Tell your readers to look for the 'Stick' in the water, about a mile north of the bridge." She had a jackpot-day in that region herself.

ATHENE PRESENTS A SPECTACULAR SCENE

Skipper Jim Wilhite's 60-foot yawl Athene provided this spectacular picture on San Francisco Bay Sunday in the Corinthian Yacht Club regatta. Athene finished second—four seconds behind winner Orion—in the Cruising Club A division over a 16.6-mile course. This photo was taken as Athene was heading for the finish line on a spinnaker run in a following sea. (Anna-Jean Cole photo)

4 Defensive Backs Ink S. F. Contracts

With training camp scheduled to open at St. Mary's College on July 19, the San Francisco 49ers today brought four more defensive halfback veterans into the fold for the 1963 National Football League season.

Signing contracts with Coach Howard (Red) Hickey were Eddie Dove, Jerry Mertens, Dale Messer and Elbert Kimbrough.

Mertens is the "dean" of the group, having first signed with the 49ers in 1958 after an outstanding collegiate career at Drake University. His first campaign in the NFL was one of his best and he was selected on the West team in the annual Pro Bowl classic at Los Angeles.

Dove, a second draft choice in 1959 from the University of Colorado, has been outstanding as a safetyman for four seasons. He won Pro Bowl recognition after the 1961 campaign.

Messer's rookie season of 1961 was cut short by a broken ankle after he showed promise on offense as a flanker back and receiver. Fighting back for a defensive berth last year, the ex-Fresno State start was voted the game ball after intercepting a pass and recovering a fumble that sparked the 49ers to a 24-17 victory over the Cardinals at St. Louis.

Hubby-Wife Team Wins Net Tourney

The husband and wife team of Bob and Margaret Amark teamed up to take top honors in the Belvedere Tennis Club mixed doubles tournament which ended Sunday. They defeated Martin Kenneally and Roberta Ferguson 2-6, 6-1 and 6-3.

The tournament attracted more than 50 of the club's top players as participants.

In the women's doubles, which were played a week ago, 60 players signed up. Last year's winners Connie Wiley and Jo Ingram were defeated by Mrs. Ferguson and Natalie Machette.

The preceding week the men's doubles tournament was played off and found brothers-in-law Les Graham and Robert Amark on opposite sides of the net. Victors were Graham and Bill Brewer over Amark and Charles Lennihan.

The women's singles tournament is scheduled for early September and the men's singles for Oct. 5.

Tennis tournament committee for this year includes: John Costello, chairman-treasurer; Millicent Vergun, secretary; Dimitry Vergun, tournament director; John Mayer, tournament director; Frederick and Jackie Supple, interclub tournament directors assisted by Jean Howard, and Celine Costello, ladder play, round robin assisted by Marge Peterson and Joan Stuart.

New members who have recently joined the club are Bert Talbot, Adolph Mueller and Mr. and Mrs. Francois Leydet.

FIVE .300 HITTERS

It Was A Bright Week For Marin's Pro Ball Players

Independent-Journal Sports
Tuesday, July 2, 196317

It was an exceptionally bright week for Marin's professional baseball players who are scattered throughout the country as the three outfielders and two infielders all hit over the .300 mark for the last reported week by Player Periscope of Novato.

John Boccabella of San Anselmo, first baseman for Pocatello, Idaho, of the Class A Pioneer League, continued his big hitting on the pro circuit with 10 hits in 29 at bats for a week's batting mark of .345. His performance raised his bat mark from .324 to .333.

His 10 hits included three doubles, a triple and a home run for four runs batted in. On the season, he now has three doubles, a triple and three four-masters, good for 15 runs batted in. He has hit safely 21 times in 63 at bats, and has scored nine runs.

Doug Wilson of Larkspur hit for a tremendous .370 clip in the last reported week as his move from Fresno of the California League to Decature Ill., of the Midwest League seems to have been just what the doctor ordered.

The outfielder raised his batting mark in the new league 66 points to .277 for the season. His season totals at last report were 18 hits in 65 trips to the plate, with four doubles, one homer and four runs batted in. He has scored 11 runs. In his last week, Wilson hit safely 10 times in 27 trips.

Shortstop Ron Blum of Larkspur, playing with St. Cloud, Minn., of the Class A Northern League, collected eight hits in 22 at bats in the last reported week for a robust .364 batting average. His hits included two doubles and a triple and three RBI's.

His fine performance pushed his seasonal mark to .253. He has 38 hits in 150 at bats and has scored 23 runs. His record includes two doubles, three triples and a homer for 12 runs batted in.

Neil Austinson of San Anselmo, outfielder, started off his first week with Lexington, N.C., of the West Carolina Class A League in fine fashion with four hits in 13 at bats for a .308 mark. His record for the week included a double and four runs batted in. It was his first reported week since he left Decatur, Ill., of the Midwest League.

Ken Anderson of San Rafael, outfielder who recently signed with the Milwaukee Braves organization, carried a .316 average through his first reported week, as he hit safely 12 times in 38 chances for Waycross, Ga., of the Class A Georgia-Florida League.

He had two doubles, one run batted in and scored two runs himself.

Nino Geminiani of San Anselmo, one of the two Marin hurlers playing professional baseball this year, suffered his fourth loss in the last reported week. He hurled five innings of two games, allowed three hits, walked four and struck out one, while toiling for Jamestown, N.Y., of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

On the season, the right-hander has a one-win, four-loss record. In 29 innings, he has given up 28 hits, 34 walks and has struck out 25. His earned run average is 5.10.

Ron Coie of Mill Valley, the other Marin pitcher, at last report was still on the disabled list for Modesto of the California League.

Softball Rivals Divide Twin Bill

Sohner Tree Service rallied for two runs in the bottom of the eighth to post a 3-2 victory in the second game of a softball doubleheader with Stan's Sport Shop at San Rafael's Albert Park Sunday night.

Stan's nabbed the opener, 4-2, behind the brilliant one-hit pitching of Dick Johnson.

Rightfielder Jay Leatherwood's clean single to center in the fifth was Sohner's only hit in the first game. Johnson retired the first 11 and the final nine Sohner hitters.

Ron McCamish's clutch single in the sixth highlighted Stan's winning three-run rally.

Stan's pushed across the go-ahead run in the top of the eighth in the nightcap, but Sohner came back to score twice in its half of the inning to gain a split.

Leatherwood scattered five hits and allowed only one walk in receiving credit for the second game victory.

GARDEN RITE

Bergstrom-Becker Vows Exchanged

The garden of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Julian Rice of Mill Valley, was the setting Sunday afternoon for the informal wedding of Marianita Becker and Karl Friedrich Borgstrom of El Segundo.

Family and close friends only attended the double ring ceremony performed at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Gam Russell Oaks of the Mill Valley Methodist Church.

Marianita, or "Penny," as she is known to everyone, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Becker of Mill Valley. When she was given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a street length sleeveless gown of imported ivory French silk with waist-length jacket.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Terry K. Feigenbaum of Edgewood Arsenal, Md., and her bridesmaid, Carla Henry of Mill Valley, wore green silk shantung dresses with flared skirts.

Best man was Robert Heath of El Segundo, and serving as an usher was Terry Feigenbaum.

After the reception held in the garden the young couple drove to El Segundo to visit Karl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Borgstrom. After stopping at Hawaii they will go on to Guam, where Karl, an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserves, will be stationed for two years.

The new Mrs. Borgstrom is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and both she and her husband were graduated in 1962 from the University of California with majors in political science. She was president of Stern Hall and one of the seven members of the women's judicial committee at Cal.

Before her marriage she was employed by an insurance company in San Francisco. She has one sister, Wendy Gay Becker, a student at Tamalpais High School. Her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Otto Becker of Markleberg, Germany.

Karl was a member of the University's rowing crew at Cal. He has two brothers, Lance and Mark Borgstrom of El Segundo. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Clark of Playa del Rey.

MRS. SAMUEL BOYER Davis III, the former Diana Davies of San Rafael, who was married recently in Stewart Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Davies of Fullerton, made her home until her recent marriage with her uncle and aunt, the Rev. and Mrs. Wesley C. Baker of San Rafael.

THE ACCENT is on color this fall in the collection designed by Stefan for Brairbook of New York. The designer selects a bright Persian print of red, blue, mustard, pink and green to create this casual at-home outfit. The sleeveless overblouse tops a softly gathered skirt, which has a hemline border of black and grey pattern.

Color Accents

HERBERT SONDHEIM presents this dinner-at-home costume for fall. The ensemble has a fitted bodice, done in an olive green wool jersey, topping a patterned pink and olive silk floor-length skirt. Cinching the waistline is a novel combination of a buckle-and-bow self belt. (UPI photos)

New Treasurer Admits Failing— Can't Balance Her Checkbook

By MARGARET A. KILGORE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The lady who puts her signature on new U.S. paper money admits to a common female failing: she can't balance her checkbook.

Mrs. Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, attractive, grey-haired former Congresswoman, is Treasurer of the United States. That is why her name appears in the lefthand corner on the gray side of all new currency.

"It's really awful," Mrs. Granahan said with a laugh. "I can tell other people about their money, but I have trouble with my own checkbook. Usually I end up getting someone else to balance it for me."

Mrs. Granahan, a native of Easton, Pa., has been treasurer since last January. She says it is "a prestige job with lots of work involved."

"The demands on my time are tremendous," she said. "I'm booked up with speaking engagements and conventions until 1964."

THE BUSINESS SIDE of her job was set up by Congress in 1789 for the purpose of receiving, keeping and disbursing all public money. Consequently, government officers deposit with the treasurer all receipts of public money, including taxes, customs duties, and the national debt.

These receipts are used by the treasurer to pay the more than 500 million checks drawn on the Treasury department every fiscal year to defray Congressional appropriations.

Mrs. Granahan is the 34th treasurer and the fourth woman to hold the post, which usually goes to a staunch party worker—in this case a Kennedy Democrat.

"The question people ask me most frequently is whether I sign all the money in circulation personally," she said. "Obviously, I don't."

SHE SAID that when she took office a staff member from the Federal Bureau of Engraving asked her to sign her name 10 times on a sheet of paper. The engraver then chose the most legible and made a metal plate which duplicates the signature on paper money.

When Mrs. Granahan is in Washington, she works in an office which is considered a showplace among the usual somber government offices preferred by her male counterparts.

The room, located in the Treasury Department next to the White House, is done in rich reds with white leather furniture set about.

She works from a big mahogany desk in front of a large picture of the first lady which is inscribed "To Kathryn E. Granahan, with best wishes, Jacqueline Kennedy."

Mrs. Kennedy sent her the photograph at the time the president named her to the post last September.

"I LIKE BEING treasurer," Mrs. Granahan said simply," "and I think it is terribly important that the President names women to high places in government. But I still miss the capitol very much."

She had served in the House since the death of her Congressman husband in 1956. But she lost her seat during a reapportionment shakeup in Pennsylvania last year which eliminated her Second district in Philadelphia.

"It was a terrific shock to me at the time," she recalled. "Kept asking myself, why me? I was one of the biggest vote-getters in the Pennsylvania delegation and the first woman ever elected to Congress from Philadelphia."

SHE BLAMED the organization of longtime Philadelphia political boss William Green for her loss. But she discussed it without rancor.

"I still want to help the state party when I can," she said, "but I feel somewhat removed from the situation."

One of her current problems is answering the volumes of mail she gets from persons wondering if the color of money will be changed, as has been suggested.

"I doubt very much if we'll change the color while I'm in office," she said. "Green has become a tradition on bills. And besides, what would color blind people do?"

July Holiday Sparks Snaps

NEW YORK (UPI) — July Fourth will start with more snap than bang this year.

That is the day amateur photographic activity reaches a peak, according to an industry spokesman.

Robert L. Pennock, manager of photo products for Honeywell, says the gal clickers make up about 60 per cent of the 52 million Americans who are camera buffs.

Tactfully declining to give an opinion as to which sex takes better shots, Pennock offered the following guides for picture taking:

—For photos early in the morning or taken inside use a light meter and high-speed film.

—For early-dawn color pictures, outdoors, use daylight film.

—For cloud shots, use a yellow filter or for a more dramatic effect, an orange or red filter.

—For black and white snapshots, you need an ASA rating of 160 or higher.

—Repress mad-hatter tendencies to make a great angled shot. Just keep a steady camera in a steady hand, then snap.

Daily Eye Care Includes The Following Procedures

DEAR NANCY TAYLOR:

"My eyes are often red and sore. My eye-doctor says it is just nervous tension and fatigue. What can I do to avoid these symptoms?

Miss L. M.

DEAR MISS L. M.:

Your eyes should be cared for daily both from the standpoint of health and of beauty. Eye cleanliness is as important as body cleanliness. Nervous tension, fatigue, and eye strain are but a few causes of sore, reddened eyes and tiny lines around the eyes. Exercise your eyes a few minutes each day and give them a special boric acid bath when they have been exposed to sun or dust. Your daily eye exercises should include a few minutes of the following procedures whenever no one is looking:

1. OPEN eyes wide and roll eyeballs quickly right to left, then up and down. Now roll them in circles, first clockwise, then counter-clockwise.

2. WHEN reading, or doing close work, rest your eyes periodically by glancing out a window as far into the distance as possible.

3. BLINK your eyelids slowly at regular intervals when reading or doing close work to help relieve tension of eye muscles.

Your supplies for eye care should include:

1. Eye cup.
2. Boric acid.
3. Eye lotion.
4. Rich eye cream.
5. Sun glasses.
6. Cotton pads dampened with eye lotion to be used when giving yourself a facial.

American Woman Termed Paradox

CHICAGO (UPI) — County Kelly Hockmeyer, Irish-born authority on women, says the American woman is the most dynamic creature in the world today—but a paradox.

In his words — "She knows how to give herself a home permanent but not how to make homemade soups. She takes care of an office job as well as her home and family, but she complains that she's really not expressing herself completely. She's willing to support her husband, raise his children, and take care of his home, but she believes any authority who tells her that the American woman is a poor wife."

Too Much Tan Tolls Trouble

A coffee-toned tan isn't a sign of health.

It is simply nature's way of shielding your skin. Too much tan thickens and hardens outer skin. It invites aging wrinkles and dryness, just as too much sun makes hay out of hair.

As you tan, freckles get darker and more permanent.

A long session in the sun may give you a bad burn, and you won't be aware of it until hours later. By that time it could be a second- or third-degree burn, and you'd spend the rest of the season in the shade!

If you blister, infection may follow. Still other perils: overexposure can hamper circulation, even bring on heat exhaustion and the dizziness, faintness, chills or nausea that come along with it to spoil all your fun.

New Designs Soften Womanly Impressions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women are finally coming back down to earth. And manufacturers of floor coverings couldn't be happier.

According to fashion experts, the reign of the lofty—and lethal—stiletto heel is over and the "sportive" (that's the word this year) look of lower stacked heels is "in."

Not since 1956, when the spike first made its appearance, has the heel come in for so much change—or attention.

Under the flood lights at a press conference in the Waldorf-Astoria recently, a wisp of a blonde in three-inch-high stilletos showed some of the damaging heritage left behind.

PLAYING SECRETARY, she leaned back in her chair and drove her spikes into the synthetic tile floor covering. She demonstrated the walk, with the cold chisel-like heel doing its deadly work.

Pressure such as this has led to a serious floor problem. The stiletto heels have been punching, pitting and pounding floors in public and private buildings.

Industry spokesmen estimate they have caused an estimated $500 million damage.

EVEN AN ELEPHANT—bless his big well-padded feet—exerts less pressure than a woman wearing stiletto heels. An elephant foot exerts 50 to 100 pounds of pressure per square inch.

Women in spike heels exert from a quarter-ton to a ton per square inch for each heel.

Consider the evidence:

—A floor laid in 1759 in Gunston Hall in Washington, D.C., withstood the ravages of the American Revolution and the bombardment of the English during the War of 1812. It was destroyed in one afternoon by stiletto heels.

—THE CITY of Mobile, Ala., passed a law that women could wear the spikes only at their own risk. That was after a woman caught her heel in the sidewalk, fell and sued.

GETTING BACK

Marinites In Europe

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Returned to Mill Valley last week were Mr. and Mrs. John Nason and Mrs. Nason's sister, Miss Grace Costello. They were in Europe at the same time but took different tours and never met.

The Nasons left on May 13, flying first to New York and then to Limerick County, Ireland, where Mrs. Nason looked up the family home at Rathkeale before they went on to Dublin.

There they visited with two sisters of the Rev. John J. O'Brien of the Mount Carmel parish in Mill Valley.

AFTER VISITING Edinburgh, in Liverpool they saw Mrs. Gavin Whitelaw, who visited in Mill Valley three years ago.

"We especially enjoyed the Cotswold Country in England," Mrs. Nason said. "We stayed at Broadway, near Stratford-On-Avon, where my husband saw in Trinity Church a plaque bearing his family name of Nason."

Their next stop was at Copenhagen, where they saw their first sunshine before going on to Germany.

"WE LOVED Germany," Mrs. Nason continued. "Everything was so beautifully organized and the people were delightful. Of special interest was Goethe's house, which has just been restored with all its original furniture.

"From Munich we went into the Bavarian Alps, and in Vienna we were so lucky—heard the Vienna Boys' Choir, went to the famous Spanish riding School and actually got tickets for the opera "La Boheme." We were surprised, though, that Vienna was not as gay as we had expected.

"WE WERE surprised too to meet the W. D. Devlins of Mill Valley on a chance encounter in Vienna."

The Nasons went then to Amsterdam and Brussels. In a little town near Brussels Mr. Nason, who is representative of wholesale decorative textiles out of New York, was interested in the textile mills that produce some of the luxurious fabrics handled by his firm.

They returned to London before taking the plane home.

LEAVING MILL VALLEY on May 3, Grace Costello was beginning her eighth trip to Europe. She visited Switzerland, Luxembourg, Brussels and Paris but spent most of her time in England, where she has relatives and friends.

Beginning her tour in London she went on through Cornwall and flew to the Scilly Islands, a trip taken by very few tourists.

"THINGS HAVE changed in Europe," she remarked, "but it's hard to put one's finger on why. It has become so Americanized and prices have gone up so terribly—everyone is talking about it. They are charging 10 per cent for service and one must tip anyway.

"But the lovely English countryside hasn't changed. There are no signs along the roads. This was a very intimate trip. I walked a great deal from village to village, talking over the fences with the people, who were very friendly.

"It was surprising how many people knew of this area. They said 'that's a beautiful place—why do you want to leave it?"

"I began to wonder myself by this time, and the best part was getting back to Mill Valley."

ON VACATION

Leslie Dewing of San Rafael is shown on the Holland-American liner Rotterdam just before sailing from New York harbor. She is off to spend the summer in Europe.

Nurenberg-Fugina Nuptial In Sausalito

Katherine Fugina and David Nurenberg, both of Sausalito, were married Sunday at the Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Henry O'Flynn.

Katherine, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter James Fugina of Sausalito, was given in marriage by her father and recited her vows wearing a full length gown of white chiffon over taffeta with Cathedral train. It was fashioned on princess lines.

Attending the bride were matron of honor, Mrs. Elliot Silver of Daly City, and the bride's sister, Anne Fugina of Sausalito, and Irene Boltz of Oakland, bridesmaids. They wore full length princess styled gowns of turquoise silk shantung.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Russell Nelson and Aaron Nurenberg, both of Oakland, was Harold Davidson of San Pablo. Serving as ushers were Elliot Silver of Daly City and Edwin Rosenberg of San Francisco, a cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception at Sabella's in Mill Valley followed the ceremony, and the young couple left afterward for a trip to Southern California. They will live in Oakland.

The new Mrs. Nurenberg was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and before her marriage was employed as a dental assistant in San Francisco. Her other sisters are Mesdames John Abbott of Winnemucca, Nev., and Thomas Kosta of Mountain View and Joan Fugina of Sausalito.

David was graduated from Oakland Technical High School and is a civil employee of the U.S. Corps of Engineers in Sausalito.

New Contemporary Furniture Acquires Built-In Neatness

CHICAGO (UPI)—Contemporary American furniture, once brashly-painted and angular, has acquired a built-in neatness, graceful lines and a beautiful facade.

The last decade has been the "most productive in the history of American furniture designs," said Sanford Wallack, designer for Basic-Witz.

Interviewed during the International Home Furnishings Market here, Wallack said new designs for small rooms meet the need for storage, growing families and beautiful furniture.

THE BRIGHT paints and boxy lines of modern have been discarded in favor of softened contours, fine cabinet woods and touches of the traditional in moldings, inlays and hardware.

The clinical look has been dropped, even through functional assets of contemporary have been preserved, such as builtin neatness in cabinet interiors with specialized compartments for jewelry, shirts, dividers, and odd-size items like handbags.

THE LAST 10 years also have given homemakers permanent collections of furniture so new pieces can be added as an adaptation of the open stock china plan.

To get maximum use of rooms, furniture has climbed walls the last decade. The vertical movement has brought a wide array of taller furniture along with shelf and cabinet wall arrangements.

This upward trend, said Wallack, takes up comparatively little floor space.

"After all, in small rooms, the only place left for furniture to go is up," he said.

To get maximum use from furniture, designers now are emphasizing appearance so bedroom and dining furniture can be used in foyers and even in living rooms.

Opening lead — ♠ 4

This is the sort of thing my father had in mind. West opens the four of spades, dummy plays the queen, and East must show he has learned the great lesson. He must not try to win the trick.

PLAY LOW

If East plays the king of spades at the first trick, South will play low, allowing East to have his foolish way. East continues with a low spade, and South wins with the 10.

Now South can reach dummy with a club to start the diamonds. He loses the first diamond trick to West, but West cannot return a spade to continue the attack. Declarer has time to knock out the ace of diamonds while the ace of spades still stops the long, dangerous suit.

RESTRAINT WINS DAY

East wins the day if he exercises restraint at the first trick.

The four of spades is clearly West's highest card in East's bid suit, and the only chance is that West has the only lower spade and a fast entry.

East should play merely the encouraging eight of spades at the first trick, allowing dummy's queen to get away from him.

JACK FINESSED

When the jack of diamonds is finessed around to West's queen, West has another spade to lead. This time East plays the jack to force out declarer's ace.

East gets in with the ace of diamonds in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

Today is Tuesday, July 2, the 183rd day of 1963 with 182 to follow.

The moon is approaching full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1881, President James Garfield was shot in the back by a disappointed office-seeker.

In 1890, Congress passed the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, later to be used to break up the business trusts.

A thought for the day — English satirist Jonathan Swift said: "Every man desires to live long, but no man would be old."

In 1776, the Continental Congress formally passed the Declaration of Independence, which was signed two days later.

In 1912, on the 46th ballot, Democrats meeting in Baltimore nominated Woodrow Wilson for president.

Good Care At Hospital Is Testimonial To Dr. Goddard

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard's departure from the Marin Hospital District board provides the occasion for reflection on a couple of pertinent points.

First, let's consider Goddard's contribution to Marin General Hospital.

He was associated with it from the start—from the days the district was formed when the hospital was only a dream.

He served as chief of medical staff during the formative period of the hospital's earliest life.

He was tireless, energetic and completely dedicated in his concern for and service to the hospital.

While the hospital district's path has at times NOT been a smooth one and there have been periods of public outcry against board policies and administration, we cannot ever remember any complaints about the medical care provided at Marin General. Even its severest critics and foes have so far as we know never criticized the medical care at Marin General. It is recognized as outstanding.

To Wilson Goddard must go the principal credit for this fact.

The hospital's reputation for providing medical care measuring up to the highest standards stands is a testimonial to Wilson Goddard's efforts. He can rightfully be proud of it.

Comes now the question of his successor.

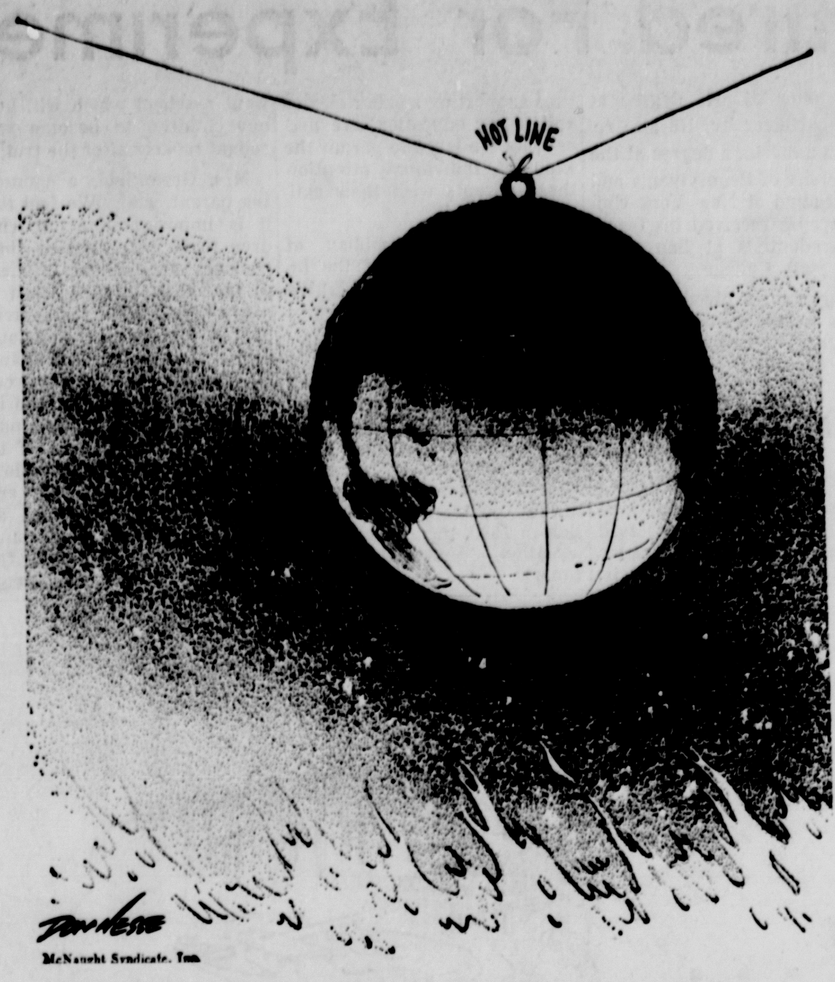

We have always agreed with the idea that the secretary of defense, of the army, of the navy and of the air force ought to be non-military civilians. We would not want to see a general or an admiral in the job.

We don't like to see professional educators on school boards. We prefer laymen as representatives of the lay public at the policy-making level.

And the same goes for the hospital district. Let the professional staff and administrators provide the technical knowledge. Let the lay public (whose hospital it is) be represented on the hospital board by laymen.

Let us hope that when the board vacancy is filled, the new trustee will be a layman NOT involved professionally in medicine or medical care. We are sure this would help smooth the path ahead.

State Legislature Draws Criticism

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I feel several items in the record of the 1963 California State Legislature are worthy of note.

In spite of general campaign promises to "hold the line" on taxes, four measures to increase tax revenues were enacted. One of these, a one cent-per-gallon increase in gasoline tax, will put millions in the state's coffers every year.

While claiming it enacted an "austerity" budget, the legislature created two new departments and two commissions, all of a permanent nature. Several costly studies were approved. (Even with an "austerity" budget, Californians this year will pay more taxes per capita than residents of any other state.)

The legislature, in its wisdom, created a new job classification for important non-elective state employees. They are now to be recognized and treated as "career executives."

Among the bills rejected by the lawmakers were five proposals to bring issues of major interest to a vote of the people. Bills requiring complete disclosure of loan fees and interest charges and complete reporting of campaign expenses were, of course, rejected. A much-needed bill asking for state assistance in providing birth control information for welfare recipients was soundly thumped by our God-fearing (or at least organized religion-fearing) representatives.

To their credit, it should be noted that the legislators manfully refrained from increasing their own salaries. They also show fortitude in rejecting a bill that sought to prohibit the teaching of the Darwinian theory.

It is obvious that California is fortunate that the legislature meets only biennially. But it is too bad these horror sessions at Sacramento are not fresh in memory when the boys come around seeking reelection the following year.

To sum up the legislature's record, it can be said that the basic trend in 1963 was no different than in other recent years. Bills asking that the people vote an expression of their opinion on major issues were rejected; taxes were increased; bureaus, commissions and study groups were created; and the structure of the state government grew to look more and more like the floor plan of the Winchester Mystery Home.

The overtaxed taxpayer, who once thought government was his servant, is now aware that he serves his government. Like so many plankton in the path of a gaping-mouthed whale, individuals and individualism are in danger of being swallowed up by their so-called representatives.

It's time to beach the whale, let it collapse of its own weight, and boil down the fat. Let us hope some of the people who seek office in 1964 are willing to toss a harpoon or two in behalf of the poor sap who makes between $5,000 and $15,000 a year and wants to keep a bit of it.

We're the only group that doesn't have a lobyist.

Fairfax Parking Limit Criticized

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Brickbats to the Fairfax city council, and their 2-hour limit-empty parking lot. It claims this lot is necessary for shoppers from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Who shops at 6 a.m. weekdays in Fairfax, much less Sundays and holidays.

This is a move to get rid of commuters and their business. Apparently a successful move too because the lot is averaging 12 cars throughout the day. (It is supposed to be filled with shoppers cars I am told.)

Committee Backs Bonds

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

A few days ago there appeared in the Independent-Journal an article concerning issuance of a use permit for a new independent day school to be started in the San Geronimo valley and called the Valley School.

This article stated that the Valley School would be limited to 50 pupils, and I'm afraid this conveyed the wrong impression to some residents of the San Geronimo valley.

We are not taking 50 pupils away from Lagunitas public school, but are drawing our student body from all parts of Marin County.

This is particularly important in view of the Lagunitas School district bond election on Tuesday, July 2. The members of the Valley School are very aware and concerned with the problems facing the public schools, and we want very much to see this bond issue approved.

PAUL BOUCHER,
Member of the Valley School Committee
Forest Knolls.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

The Army Corps of Engineers announced a $400,000 widening and overlay construction plan for the main runway at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Henry K. Norton, San Rafael and New York railroad executive, outlined an "aerial transit" plan for a Novato-to-San Jose system of 70-mile-an-hour rubber-tired fully electric cars guided by center rail, cutting travel times in half but with a price tag of 564 million dollars.

20 YEARS AGO

Marin County was asked by the State Division of Highways to take part in widening and repair of the Tiburon road to the Naval Net Depot.

County Auditor Leon A. de Lisle told the board of supervisors that for the war duration, he favored operating the county with virtually skeleton crews at top pay levels.

Gasoline ration cards were taken away from four Marin County residents on ground that they had exceeded the 35-miles-an-hour wartime speed limit.

OLD CHAIR STUFFED WITH MONEY

One woman who didn't have enough money to buy coal last winter in Blackburn, England, resorted to a drastic meature to heat her house.

Desperately looking for some article of furniture that might be spared for firewood, she decided to chop up an old overstuffed chair.

After a few whacks, she got a pleasant shock. A roll of bills, totaling $1,166, fell out of the upholstery.

There may be little chance of your stumbling on such a hoard. But countless hidden treasures are awaiting discovery in your heart, mind and soul.

It will require plenty of patience and persevering effort to uncover the bit of divine greatness within you and then to put it to worthwhile use. But whatever trouble is involved, God will bless you if you push on instead of giving up in discouragement.

Think of life as one long treasure hunt that can end in heaven and you will find it much easier to put your heart into the long search.

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither rust nor moth consumes, nor thieves break in and steal." (Matthew 6:20)

May I keep ever aware, O Holy Spirit, of the treasure that lasts for all eternity.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

One Shouldn't Let Full Week Pass Without Attention To Brick Selling

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Among the numerous commercial organizations that have headquarters in the nation's capital is the National Association of Distributors and Dealers of Structural Clay Products.

Loosely translated, this means that they sell bricks.

Like other organizations, great or small, private or governmental, the National Association of Distributors and Dealers of Structural Clay Products likes to be known by its initials, in this case "NADD."

FROM TIME TO time, the association will spread culture and enlightenment among tht nation's brick sellers by sending them a publication called "NADD Magazine."

At other times, it will undertake to enrich their lives by sending them a publication called "Clayboy."

A friend recently sent me some copies of these publications with a suggestion that they might add to my own store of knowledge about brick selling.

I appreciated the gesture because, to be frank about it, I have neglected to keep current in this subject. Sometimes I'll let a whole week slip by without giving it a thought.

"NADD Magazine" contains a nice editorial balance of business articles (how to win a fight with the boss and still keep eating) and philosophic reflections (the most important leg of any three-legged stool is the one that's missing).

IT ALSO PASSES along timely health hints, such as these rules for avoiding summer colds:

—Don't fall asleep in the yard with the gate open.

—Don't drink from moist glasses.

Brick sellers, however, do not live by mortar alone. Every person needs a bit of spice and levity, which is supplied in abundance by "Clayboy."

One of the features of "Clayboy" is a roundup of the jokes told at the last sales meeting. But like most publications, "Clayboy" has a space problem.

This the editors have neatly solved by printing only the punch lines.

It also helps keep them in good standing with the postal authorities.

ANOTHER FEATURE of "Clayboy" is the "Claymate of the Month," which is a picture of a pretty girl fully clothed. This is known as the novelty approach.

Taken together, the two publications help brick sellers develop well-rounded personalities. Which is important.

If they didn't do anything but sell bricks all day, their personalities would be rectangular.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK
By THERON NEWELL

Chileno Valley Is Beautiful Sight With Great Potential In Future

THE OTHER EVENING my wife and I went for a ride out through the Chileno Valley. I had been there before enroute to Novato from Tomales. I was delightfully surprised at the many small reservoirs in the area. I was more surprised at the size of Chileno Lake.

When we went back to visit the valley, It was again a delightful surprise. The temperature in the valley where the trees made shade, was probably 10 degrees cooler than the surrounding hills. We could tell that Chileno Lake is shallow, but if it has any watershed, it could be made deeper by small dams on the end.

I checked with Jerry Gilbert, manager of the North Marin Water District. He said that the Chileno-Walker Creek watershed had the largest untapped source of water left in the county.

The North Marin district had considered tapping it before it built the Russian River aqueduct, he said. Of course, getting that supply of water has solved the water problem for North Marin for several years.

AS WE CONTINUED down the valley, I could see where there were many sites which could hold sizeable amounts of water if dammed. My county map shows also that there is six or seven mile stretch of the creek which is now inaccessible by car. Surely in this area there are also several good damsites.

At the present time, Marin County has enough water, but what of the future? The day may come in the future when it will need more water. Then it should be ready to tap that source of water.

In the meantime, the county could use lakes in that area for recreational purposes. With the growing number of boats and boating, any lake that could be used for recreational purposes would be welcome. Then there are always the fishermen who are looking for new spots to try their luck.

MARIN COUNTY IS looking for ways to attract tourists. Another large lake or series of lakes in that valley would be a big attraction to the area. They would be easily accessible from Highways 1 and 101. They could also be a drawing point to visitors to the Pt. Reyes National Seashore when it gets going.

The County of Marin, the North Marin Water District and Marin Municipal District might look into making this a joint venture to assure the county of a future water supply and at the same time provide more recreational facilities. A three way project might make it economically feasible at this time.

In any event, right now it is a pleasant drive to go see this charming valley in the northern reaches of the county. You'll find it an interesting place where the fat cattle watch occasional cars going down the roads. And I don't think that we were just lucky —probably deer can be spotted any time. We saw several of them when we were there. I think you would enjoy the drive. We did.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

'Two China' Policy Under Consideration

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—A closely guarded sweeping change in foreign policy is behind that surprise announcement by Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman "welcoming a national debate" on relations with Red China.

President Kennedy personally had a hand in this out-of-the-blue declaration by his top diplomatic trouble-shooter who is going to Moscow on a special mission to try to induce Premier Khrushchev to agree to a nuclear weapons test ban.

Harriman's highly significant statement is the first of a series of trial balloons aimed at sounding out voter sentiment on possible overtures to Red China that the President and his foreign policy advisers have long been deliberating.

FOREMOST AMONG those favoring that are Harriman, McGeorge Bundy, special White House foreign policy assistant, and Dr. Walt Rostow, head of the State Department Policy Planning Council. They are leaders of an inner council group advocating an "open door" policy toward Communist China.

In congressional circles they are credited as urging the President to undertake to induce Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to evacuate the Nationalists' powerfully fortified offshore strongholds of Quemoy and Matsu before the Red Chinese test their first nuclear device — anticipated either late this year or early in 1964.

The argument reputedly advanced by these advisers is that delay until after the Communists attain nuclear power would make it appear that a policy change was forced by Peiping's nuclear menace.

THIS HIGHLY controversial counsel is understood to be strongly opposed by some of the President's closest political advisers, foremost among them Kenneth O'Donnell and Ralph Dungan, members of his White House staff. They have been with the President throughout his political career, and while they have no direct voice in foreign policy, their opinions carry great weight with him.

Both are deemed emphatically against any change in policy toward Red China before the 1964 presidential election. They are warning such a shift would involve great political risk.

As expounded in a National Security Council study on the "formation of a China policy," the administration would initiate what would amount to in fact, if not in name, a "two-China" policy.

Under this policy the U.S. would still be committed to defend the Nationalists on Formosa, but not their claims to the mainland and offshore strongholds. Also proposed is "opening the door" to contacts with the Chinese Communists.

The Security Council study stresses the need for "unilateral action" by the U.S. in taking the initiative in the proposed far-reaching policy change.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Allie Reynolds, one of the all-time great pitchers for the New York Yankees, hit only one home run in his long major league career. "It was off Early Wynn in Washington," recalled Reynolds. "I didn't see it good, so I ran all the way. When I galloped by second, I saw the third base coach holding up his hands, so I thought he meant me to go back. I slid back into second base! It was pretty embarrassing, especially since it was the opening day of the season and the president of the United States was in the stands!"

Overheard at Dave Chasen's Hollywood restaurant: "I'm my studio's most expensive star. On my last picture alone, they lost three million dollars."

Do you feel you're getting old and running down hill? A few statistics gathered by Rev. Herbert Chase should hearten you: Socrates gave the world his wisest philosophy at 70. Voltaire produced "Candide" at 84. Goethe began "Faust" when he was 60 and finished it at 82. Hugo wrote "Les Miserables" when he was 62. Jules Verne's most imaginative thrillers were written after he was 70—the same age at which Noah Webster completed his dictionary. Fell a little spryer?

First Teacher Hired For Experiment In Understanding

FRANK FARRARA

Gia-fu Feng, a 43-year-old native of Peking who came to the United States to study banking, will be the first teacher at the newly-organized experimental Valley School in Forest Knolls this fall.

Feng was hired Thursday by a group of San Geronimo Valley parents who have sponsored the school to provide their children with "an education in human understanding and relationships."

An important part of Feng's responsibilities will be to emphasize sympathetic understanding of the cultures of other counties, particularly contemporary cultures, according to Murray Greenfield of Woodacre.

Feng will leaves his post as treasurer of the Big Sur Hot Springs Corp., where he has arranged seminars for Aldous Huxley and Alan Watts.

Starting Sept. 16 he will teach a maximum of 16 students from the fourth through the eighth grades at the school to be established at the Forest Farms Camps. Twelve students have been enrolled to date.

Feng's talents include playing the Chinese flute, Chinese fiddle and the recorder and painting and sculpture, Greenfield said.

Feng came to the United States in 1946 after receiving a bachelor of arts degree at Peking University. He also received a master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania and has studied at New York University. He received his teaching credentials at San Francisco State College.

"Parents involved in the Valley School experiment emphasize their continuing interest in the public school system but feel that their children cannot wait for an education in human understanding and relationships," Greenfield said.

"They must be taught these values now. Public school classes, because of the increased population and the reluctance of taxpayers to vote bond issues supporting smaller classes and better education, are necessarily too large to permit the kind of individual attention these parents wish their children to have."

Mrs. Monte Steadman of Corte Madera, one of the interested parents, said, "We want a school which will help our children to become self-reliant seekers after the truth."

Mrs. Greenfield, a sponsoring parent, said, "We feel that it is important for our children to be respected by their teachers and school officials, so that they in turn learn to respect each other as individuals in schools now, and later in life. Dignity, an understanding of human relations between all peoples, respect for the individual, are values that must be taught in childhood if tomorrow's adults are to build a nation that will be strong and creative and lead toward an effective brotherhood of man."

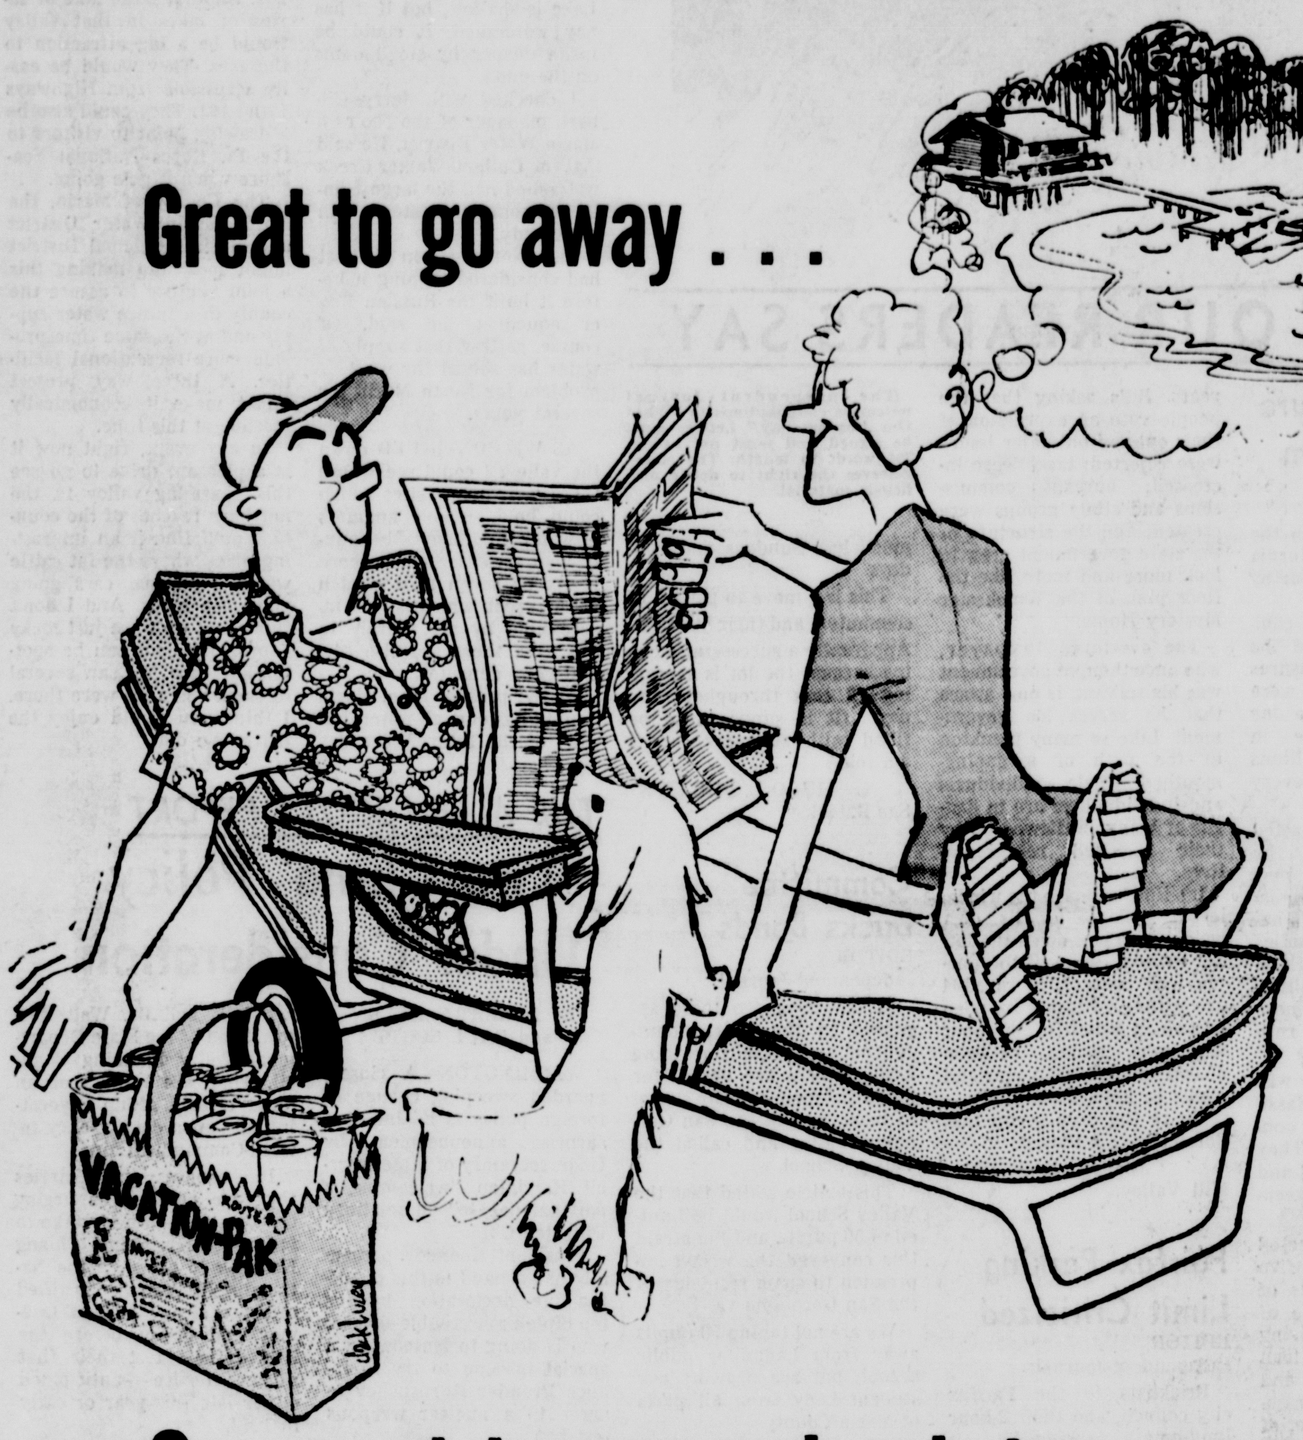

The school will be under the leadership of Harold E. Gregg, director of Forest Farms Camps.

The school's sponsoring group will meet Friday at 8 p.m. at Forest Farms Camp, Tamal Road, Forest Knolls. Anyone interested in the project is invited to attend, Greenfield said.

NEW YORK (UPI)—American university presses are really humming. During the past five years, revenues have shown a 14 per cent increase annually with 1961 sales topping $17 million, compared with $1 million in 1940, the American Association of University Presses reports.

Bronchiectasis Victim Gives Warning

By HELANE ANDERSON

Until two years ago Mrs. Thomas A. Maniscalco, like many others, had never heard of bronchiectasis. Now she wants to help make everyone both aware and wary of it.

Commending the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.'s current effort to alert the community to chronic respiratory diseases such as bronchiectasis, Mrs. Maniscalco said: "I made mistakes because I didn't know any better. L hope my experience will help someone."

In her pleasant Santa Venetia home, Candy ("no one knows me by Charline") told her story in a detached manner devoid of either self-condemnation of self-dramatization. As she talked, she spooned applesauce into the tiny mouth of five-month-old Rose, served cereal to Lee-Anne, 3, and patiently settled the latter's argument with brother Michael, 6.

Her husband Tom, retired Navy chief engineer vacationing from his present machinist's job in San Francisco, reflectively listened and tended the baby with a practiced hand.

Candy's health history follows the pattern of bronchiectasis, a non-contagious disease of the air passages (bronchi) which become dilated (ectasis) as a result of inflammation and infection that cause permanent damage to the bronchial walls (also from degenerative processes and presence of a foreign body).

The disease frequently starts in childhood as a result of pneumonia and is usually accompanied by chronic sinusitis. Characteristics are violent coughing and profuse expectoration containing pus or blood.

Candy had pneumonia when she was 10; she was frequently bothered by chronic sinus infections aggravated by the fog of her native San Francisco. The Manascalcos moved to drier Marin in 1953 when Candy was 21, but six years later she started coughing.

She said the cough was caused by (1) cigarettes — she smoked two packs per day, (2) the damp cold of Fisherman's Wharf where she worked outside for a gift shop, (3) the chalk dust of the roller rink where she was a speed skater and dancer until her second child was born.

Her life in Marin was much like that of many another energetic young mother. She refused to let babies lower her high homemaking standards, she enthusiastically undertook "too many" community, church and school activities, she found the time for outside jobs to help finance the second car and dancing and skating lessons for her daughter.

By the crucial winter of 1961, the Maniscalco family numbered four: Eddie, 10; Toni-Lee, 6; Michael, 4; and Lee-Anne, 1. Candy had suffered two recent miscarriages. Her cough had caused her to give up two jobs, but she still refused to do anything about it but take a patented cough medicine. A bottle a day gave her a few minutes' free breathing.

Then mumps struck — first the children, then Candy. She continued day and night care of her youngsters. Walking pneumonia overtook her—and she began to cough blood.

Terror gripped Candy and Tom and was passed on to their older children. One day Toni-Lee flew into the house, threw her arms around her mother's neck and sobbed: "You're NOT going to die. I won't let you."

She had overheard neighbors who later admitted they believed Candy was in the last stages of tuberculosis. They cared for two of her children, but understandably were afraid to come near her — all but Mrs. Blanche Morin who fed and cared for Candy and the baby for three months.

Many a night after Toni-Lee's outburst, Candy stumbled over her little daughter, asleep on the floor outside her door "to keep God from taking you away."

Eddie, summoned by Candy to go for Mrs. Morin during a particularly vicious coughing spell, ran and hid instead. His childish mind twisted his father's subsequent reproof into guilt for his mother's condition. The Maniscalcos felt fortunate to be able to send him for a year's stay with her mother in Nevada.

After Candy coughed blood for six weeks, her husband forced her to see their family physician, who ordered X-rays and a sputum test.

The next day he told her she was very ill with bronchiectasis, that she would probably have to have a part of one lung removed, and ordered her to go that day to a chest surgeon. She argued, but finally went—sobbing.

Unreasoning, ignorance-based fear controlled Candy for the next weeks while she took antibiotics and thorough tests in preparation for surgery. She was sure she had an incurable disease, that the doctors were deceiving her, that she would surely die or, at best, become an invalid. How could one live normally with part of a lung gone?

In March of 1961 completely successful surgery removed a lung lobe infected with a half-dozen abscesses. "God and the doctor are entirely responsible for the good health I have enjoyed since—I was a horrible patient," Candy admits.

"The only time the doctor was even impatient with me was when I begged to smoke after the surgery. He told me to go ahead—IF I wanted to come back in six months and let him take off a little more of my lung."

To other women particularly, Candy directs this plea: "Don't work yourself into the ground, as I did. Limit your activities. And what difference does it make if the house isn't spic and span or dinner is only soup now and then?"

She adds these warnings: Don't rely on home remedies. Be careful with yourself and your children if you or they are inclined to have respiratory ailments. Don't smoke. And if you cough, don't wait—go find out what's wrong.

SHE DIDN'T KNOW THE SIGNS—Mrs. Thomas A. Maniscalco, recovering from the not-rare disease of bronchiectasis, wants other Marinites to know the symptoms so they won't become victims of the ailment as she did. With her are children Eddie, 11, standing, and (on floor, from left) Toni-Lee, 8; Rose, five months; Michael, 6, and Lee-Anne, 3.

Gas Unit Sales Boom

NEW YORK (UPI)—American homeowners bought more built-in gas ranges, gas clothes dryers and central heating gas boilers in 1962 than in any previous year, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association reports. Preliminary year-end estimates show sales of the three types of home equipment were 6.6, 13.1 and 4.2 per cent, respectively, above 1961 levels.

New Labor Talk Methods Attack Bargaining Flaw

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Getting the boss and employees to talk the same language — and believe what the other says—is being attacked on several fronts.

Mutual suspicion and seemingly irreconcilable aims are stumbling blocks in this year's testing of the collective bargaining technique.

One approach is the continuing negotiating committee such as has just scored a success in the steel industry —a labor pact without the shadow of a strike deadline.

Another is the public mediator—the third man who listens to both sides' conflicting views of the other's demands and goals and seeks to reconcile them in the public's interest.

And still another, tried with notable success in at least one instance in Britain, is for an outsider to talk to workers individually and in groups, and to company officials, too.

The object is to change old notions of what's what and explain how new rules will profit each side in today's changing business climate.

A leading problem is that union leaders and members are convinced executives are reactionaries, while management thinks labor is bent on making trouble and grabbing all it can. can.

Productivity, for example, means one thing to management and another to most employees. For the boss greater productivity means turning out more goods at lower per unit cost. To most workers it means firing someone or cutting out well-paid overtime.

Job security, to the worker, is preventing layoffs when new machines are bought. To management is may mean featherbedding or retaining workers who don't do much work any more.

The hassle over firemen on Diesel locomotives is a much publicized current example. Or job security can mean to workers shorter weeks, while management might prefer fewer on the payrolls and overtime when orders call for it.

Workers think they know what's wrong in the plant. And management is sure that it alone really knows.

Knowledgeable outsiders sometimes can see that both are wrong. And with luck and hard digging they can get both to give ground so that both can profit.

Bell Ringing Slated For 4th Of July

There will be ringing of bells, exploding of fireworks, parades, a pancake breakfast and a bean feed, among the festivities on tap for Marin County residents celebrating the Fourth of July.

An innovation this year will be the ringing of bells at 11 a.m. in churches, colleges and government buildings as part of a nationwide observance.

The San Rafael Elks Lodge requested Marin County residents to join in the "Make Freedom Ring" program supported by Elks lodges throughout the United States.

There will be an all-day celebration at the Woodacre Improvement Club starting with a "pancake and sausage" breakfast at 8 a.m. and ending with a fireworks display at 9 p.m.

The breakfast, sponsored by San Geronimo Valley Club Scout Pack 14, will last until 11 a.m.

Breakfast may see a challenge baseball game between Little League teams, the Lagunitas Landers and the Fairfax Lumberjacks, at 9 a.m.

A children's pet parade will start at 11 a.m. Participants will gather at the Carson-Railroad Avenue bus stop in Woodacre and parade to the clubhouse, where prizes will be awarded for best entries in six classes.

Games and refreshment booths will open at 11 a.m. At 12:30 p.m. a skin-diving exhibition will be staged at the club's new swimming pool. Two pools will be open to the public from 3 to 5 p.m.

A softball game featuring the Villa Lucchesi team from the San Geronimo Valley will start at 2 p.m., followed by an archery exhibtion at about 3:30 p.m.

A chicken barbecue chuck wagon dinner from Rancho Nicasio will be served at 5 p.m. as preliminary to fireworks at 9 p.m.

Co-chairmen for the day are Kurt Kalemba and Ruth Benz.

The Novato Lions Club will serve its annual bean feed starting at noon at the Stafford Dam picnic grounds.

The free menu includes beans, salad and coffee. The club will sell soft drinks, ice cream, hot dogs and beer, with proceeds from sales to go to the Lions' programs for aiding blind children.

Along with the bean feed will be pony rides and games for children, a money scramble, and a softball game.

More than 225 rocket fireworks will be launched at the 11th annual Corte Madera fireworks show at 8 p.m. on the Neil Cummins Schoolgrounds.

Bolinas will have its annual July 4 parade at 2 p.m., rather than in the morning because of the tides.

Residents also will be visiting the Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross, which will run through the long holiday weekend.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Menopause Uncomfortable, But Not As Serious As Was Once Believed

VAN DELLEN

The menopause, although uncomfortable for some, is not serious. But this concept was not always held, as many old-timers will agree. Up to the turn of the century the change of life was regarded as a dangerous and painful transition from youth to old age. It meant four or five years of suffering while the woman withered like a grape into a raisin.

Most of the misconceptions center about the problems faced during this time of life. But these are everyday situations that occurred before the menopause and can be expected after it. Some women prefer to blame the climacteric rather than nervous and emotional factors for various symptoms.

IT IS NOT the reduced activity of the uterus and ovaries that bothers women but the dread of growing old, the threat to stability, and the many other fears accompanying age. It is a happenstance that menstruation ceases at a time of life when the world looks glum and gray for other reasons.

The legitimate symptoms of the menopause come from the dwindling supply of female sex hormones (estrogens). This deficiency leads to hot flashes and certain changes in the reproductive organs. Hormones may be given for a short time when the flushes are uncomfortable or embarrassing.

ON THE OTHER hand, nervousness, irritability, anxiety, fatigue, insomnia, and aching should not be attributed to the shrinking ovaries. The same can be said of palpitation, difficulty in breathing, loss of memory, blind spots, frequency of urination, and coldness and tingling of the extremities. These manifestations often are of nervous or emotional origin and are more likely to occur in those who were bothered along this line prior to the menopause.

More women should concentrate on the good things associated with the menopause. It is not a disease and the symptoms are transient. Plan ahead for more enjoyment in life, such as grandchildren, spending more time with the husband, trying new ventures such as painting or other hobbies. And be thankful to be relieved of the discomforts accompanying menstruation. For some, this is an ideal time to go back to work.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accomies request.)

CONVULSIONS

J. Y. writes: What are rum fits?

REPLY

This is an old term for alcohol epilepsy — a debatable condition. It applies mainly to old soaks who develop seizures for the first time. Convulsions may occur when the alcoholic stops drinking.

SMOKING AND DRIPPING

H. W. writes: Could smoking cause post-nasal drip?

REPLY

Yes, especially if smoke irritates the nasal membranes. Other causes are discussed in our leaflet on post-nasal drip, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

JOINT CHANGES

W. N. writes: Is there such a thing as painless arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, in that the X-ray may show evidence — often extensive — of arthritis but the individual has no pain, swelling, or limitation of movement of the joint.

WORK OFF NERVOUSNESS

T. K. writes: Is hard physical labor a cure for nervousness?

REPLY

No, but it may help individuals who spend too much time thinking about themselves.

County Planners Grant Subdivisions

Approval was given by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday on two Lucas Valley subdivision cases.

These included an amendment to the Lucas Valley Planned Community Master Plan for relocation of a school site, and a tentative map of Eichler's Lucas Valley Unit 5 comprising 33 acres.

Neither involved any problem, the commission found. The church site was changed to a slightly less central but still acceptable location at the east end of the school site, both church and school acreage being maintained without change.

The fifth Lucas Valley unit is just west of the county farm area and north of extension of Idylberry Road.

As result of previous trouble with variances the staff recommended and the commission confirmed that reasonable evidence must be given that lots, including cuts and fills, are of sufficient size and shape to contain the proposed houses. Dimensions of the houses are known.

Moss Demands Action Over A. F. News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) has demanded that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara spell out in detail what the Pentagon is doing about restraints on newsmen covering military accidents.

In an exchange of letters, Moss said the House foreign operations and government information subcommittee he heads may hold public hearings on the issue.

Officials of the Moss subcommittee said they are concerned about an Army regulation directing military authorities to physically restrain news photographers who refuse to surrender pictures that might include classified material.

The Air Force, in a guidance letter to its personnel, said force could be used on rare occasions to bar crash photographs that could compromise security information.

A subcommittee spokesman said the military has never been given authority to take action against newsmen and photographers in civilian areas.

AEC To Give Los Angeles Plant Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission said yesterday it will provide up to eight million dollars for the design of a large nuclear power plant Los Angeles will build in Corral Canyon near Malibu Beach.

The AEC, in its contract with the city, will also waive fuel use charges up to 8.2 million dollars at the plant which Los Angeles has proposed to build for electrical output. Its total cost, including design, is set at 96 million dollars and completion is scheduled for 1967.

A similar contract is being negotiated with Connecticut Yankee Atomic Power Co. at Hartford, Conn., for a nuclear power plant to be built on the Connecticut River at Haddam Neck.

The AEC is proposing to provide design assistance for the two projects to demonstrate that large, all-nuclear electrical generating facilities can be operated as economic sources of power.

Fred A. Nicholson, board president, said a choice will be made among four applicants.

The board will continue discussion of the budget and decide whether to raise money for installing new sewers by taxes, as done this year, or by charging an installation fee to the property owner. Nicholson said if an installation fee is charged, the tax rate could go down as much as 60 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Wells Fargo Schedules Another Wild West Show For Novato Branch

A Wells Fargo Bank opening without a stagecoach to set the scene would be like a ship launching without a bottle of bubbly swung against the bow.

The new Novato Wells Fargo branch in the Novato Fair Shopping Center at 964 Diablo Avenue will open its doors next Monday with all the Gold Rush fanfare that accompanied the Northgate office opening last November.

The century-old, bullet-scarred coach Ben Holladay will be pulled out of the museum again to haul youngsters of all ages as it did for booted passengers in the 1860s.

Driver Sport Fellingham will have an armed gent beside him riding shotgun, just in case a resurrected Black Bart makes his 14th holdup attempt on the old rig and takes off with the strongbox. Four horses and two outriders will complete the group.

The new bank, about 5,000 square feet, contains a main lobby with 15 teller stations and a mezzanine. Complete safe deposit facilities, including conference room, coupon booths and stand-up counters will be available. A drive-up window will take care of cars entering from Diablo Avenue.

Manager Elmer Anderson, assistant Clifford Horsman and staff will be on hand to stow away your gold dust.

REALTOR Jane Fairchild, formerly with Don Geddes Realty—and who can't resist buying old schoolhouses—has opened her own real estate office at 496 B Street, San Rafael. Elizabeth E. Enquist will be a saleswoman in the office.

A native of Sonoma County, Mrs. Fairchild was formerly an accountant who turned realtor about five years ago. She is a member of the Marin County Real Estate Board. Her business will be listed as Jane Fairchild Realty.

ACCOUNTANTS Jorna and Roland Hellman who have just about completed their new office building on Fourth Street, San Rafael, have been attending the annual state convention of the Society of California Accountants in Bakersfield.

GEORGE E. SLEVIN of San Rafael has been named assistant vice president of City Savings and Loan Assn., San Francisco. Prior to joining the association last January as public relations director he operated his own direct mail advertising business and served with IBM and Crocker-Anglo National Bank.

McPHAIL'S in San Rafael had a safety meeting of drivers last week and passed out award pins to 49 of them for driving without chargeable accidents during the past year or longer. Four who received 12-year accident-free pins were Charles Flynn, Walter Becker, Cliff Howard and Andrew (Slim) Sommerville. Drivers of service trucks to heavy equipment participated.

Marin Art And Garden Fair To Show Top Photographs

Thirty photographs by Sir Francis Drake High School students, all winners in the school's weekly photo competition during 1963-63, will be displayed at the Marin Art and Garden Fair which opens Wednesday.

The pictures will be part of a Ross Valley Camera Club exhibit. Rudolph B. Genetti, club vice president and Drake teacher, said the student photographers are either members of his photography class or in the school camera club he said.

Two of the 30 pictures were winners in the annual national Kodak contest. Photographers were Steve Oliva of San Anselmo and Mike Ballestrazzi of Fairfax, both of whom received commendations. A third Drake student, Piet Halberstadt of San Anselmo, received a $25 award in the national competition for a color slide entry.

The oldest piece of music extant with English words is "Sumer is Icumen In," composed at Reading Abbey in the 13th century.

New Mill Valley Citizens Crossed Ocean To Meet

PLENTY OF HELP—Jean Louis Bontemps finds daughters Anne (center) and Christine most eager to help as he paints flower box he made in home workshop. Mrs. Bontemps keeps the youngest, Philip, from "helping." Mr. and Mrs. Bontemps, who were born 50 miles apart in France but who met in San Francisco, both received U.S. citizenship last month. (Independent-Journal photo)

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Jean Louis and Renee Bontemps lived for years but 50 miles apart in their native France and never met.

They met in San Francisco at the Swiss night spot, William Tell, where they danced to accordion music of a small French orchestra.

Now they live with their three children at 825 Marin Drive in Tamalpais Valley, eat French bread which is baked by an Italian firm, and drink nothing but California wine.

The Bontemps, which means "good times" in English, received their American citizenship June 18 in a San Francisco Federal Court with a group of 148 people.

Their children, Christine, 7; Anne, 3, and Philip, 2, who speak both English and French, were all born in the United States. At the age of 21 they may choose either French or American citizenship, Mrs. Bontemps said.

Bontemps is a machinist for Greyhound Lines in San Francisco. He was a farmer in France, living in the village of Sennecey, Burgundy Province. Mrs. Bontemps, then Renee Brunet, lived about 50 miles away at Bellegarde in the Alps near Switzerland.

"When we met," said Mrs. Bontemps, "I was teaching dancing at Veloz and Yolande in San Francisco and studying as a beautician."

Mrs. Bontemps stayed 18 months in New York before moving West. Bontemps came directly from France to San Francisco.

"I was already international," said Mrs. Bontemps. "I lived in England three years. My husband is pretty national. He likes it here. He thinks the working opportunities are much better here."

She added that the family visited their homes five years ago for four months. "My father will come next spring to visit us," she said. Mrs. Bontemps's father owns a pottery and china business in Bellegarde.

The couple studied American government under Mrs. Virginia Pierce, a San Anselmo teacher. "She was very helpful to us," Mrs. Bontemps related. She added that her daughter, Christine, is studying Spanish at school."

"My husband's place, Burgundy, is a wine country. He is a real connoisseur of wine," reported Mrs. Bontemps." The French wine sent here is not so good as the California wine. We buy only California wine."

Fair To Feature Mercury Replica

A replica of the Project Mercury capsule and $160,000 allotted for purses in the 10-day horse racing program will be highlights of the Sonoma County Fair, July 17 to 27 on the Santa Rosa fairgrounds.

Fair officials are predicting an attendance of 200,000 persons, 8,000 over last year's attendance.

The fair will start with a parade through downtown Santa Rosa at 6:30 a.m. with a fireworks display to be held in the grandstand area.

Even though we are growing older each year, we don't mind telling our age because each year we have grown younger in our concept of community service.

We are older in judgment which we have used to help you lead a happier life through wise financial planning and consistent savings or home loan programs. A continuing reward of our seniority is the knowledge that we have been of great help in the visible changes in homes that have occurred through the years . . . and we are thankful to have played hand in hand with progress. . . . It has been a satisfaction to watch the good qualities of one decade be passed on to the next.

Most of all, we value our long and friendly relationship with the community. We know that our [illegible] a large part due to the loyalty and confidence [illegible] one of you.

Now, as we celebrate our 77th year we want to thank you for making us headquarters for savings and home loans in Marin since 1886. We hope we may continue to share with you the beauty, the wealth and the pleasure that living in Marin County means to us all. Our continuing goal will be to do our share to keep this county a better place to live in.
